

'Kathleen' blows up a storm, floods town, kills 2

Destroys 2,000 homes, rips up roads, bridges

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A wall of water unleashed by Tropical Storm Kathleen swept through a small Southern California desert town Friday, killing at least two persons and washing away homes, highways and bridges.

At least two persons were reported killed by the turbulent floodwaters in the retirement town of Ocotillo, 18 miles west of El Centro, authorities said. Dozens of motorists and campers were stranded.

An estimated 2,000 homes were severely damaged by floodwaters in Palm Desert, Indian Wells and Rancho Mirage, all in the Palm Springs area, said Robert Horrigan, Riverside County disaster preparedness chief. No injuries were reported there.

Imperial County Sheriff's Lt. Bruce Anderholt said a 4 to 6-foot high wall of water about 100 yards wide struck Ocotillo between 11 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. The town has about 450 residents.

"About half of the community washed away," said Anderholt. "We are isolated. All roads in and out of the valley are closed and we expect to find more dead," he said from his office in El Centro 110 miles east of San Diego.

Witnesses reported seeing two cars with passengers swept away by mud and water on an Interstate 8 bridge at Meyers Creek near Ocotillo. Anderholt could confirm only that the bridge was washed out.

A third person drowned earlier in the day in the El Centro area. Karen Miller, a Bureau of Land Management spokeswoman, said earlier federal workers reported seeing a 35-foot high wall of water crashing through Meyers Creek.

High winds up to 90 miles an hour in El Centro, 110 miles east of San Diego, virtually sandblasted homes and businesses, the California Highway Patrol said.

Flash flood warnings were posted in the desert and the rains washed out all roads leading to Imperial Valley.

At least two bridges were reported washed out, the National Weather Service and CHP said, including Interstate 8.

Dozens of motorists were stranded in their cars throughout the Yuha Desert area of El Centro, and more than 60 sheriff's deputies combined with civilian volunteers and federal agencies to search for victims trapped by the flood.

The wall of water that smashed Ocotillo was fed by torrential rains that totaled 8.58 inches in the mountains above the town, the weather service said.

The storm also dumped rain and poured high winds into western Arizona, where the wind hit 76 miles an hour and killed a man felled by a tree limb, and into the Las Vegas area in Nevada.

Authorities said Arnold Mills, 70, of Vancouver, Wash. was killed by a falling tree limb, police said.

Scores of homes and other buildings were damaged by wind and flying debris and small planes were wrecked at Yuma International Airport.

In Las Vegas, police reported heavy flooding along the famed Strip of gambling casinos.

3 rescued from raging flood channel

Swirling 4-foot waters rushing at 40 mph speed

By PHYLLIS CANNON
PB Staff Writer

Three Montclair residents, two of them teen-agers were rescued Friday from the rain-swollen San Antonio Flood Control Channel at Phillips Boulevard in Pomona.

The rescues were made by Montclair and Pomona firemen, a General Telephone Co. crew and an off-duty Upland fireman.

The channel was filled to the four-foot level by runoff from the heavy rain, rushing downhill toward Prado Reservoir at a speed of 40 miles per hour.

Had the three not been rescued, said Pomona Fire Capt. Jean LaBesque, they would have been killed.

Those pulled from the channel were identified by firemen as Mark Jones, 15, of 10185 Marion Ave.; Tim Trenholm, 16, of 10254 Marion Ave.; and a citizen, Maxwell Donaldson, who fell in while attempting to assist in the rescue. Firemen said he was in his late 30s and gave his address as at Ramona and Grand avenues.

Workers in the 4000 block of State Street in Montclair saw the youths enter the channel and called Montclair Fire Department.

With Assist. Chief Duane Mellinger leading two units, past Mission Boulevard, past Ninth Street and to Phillips Boulevard, Pomona Fire Department was alerted. Chino Fire Department was called to standby.

Mellinger arrived at Phillips ahead of the youths, and got a rope into the channel.

Firemen said Donaldson went down the rope and fell into the rushing water. Mellinger pulled Jones out of the channel and had assistance in getting Donaldson out.

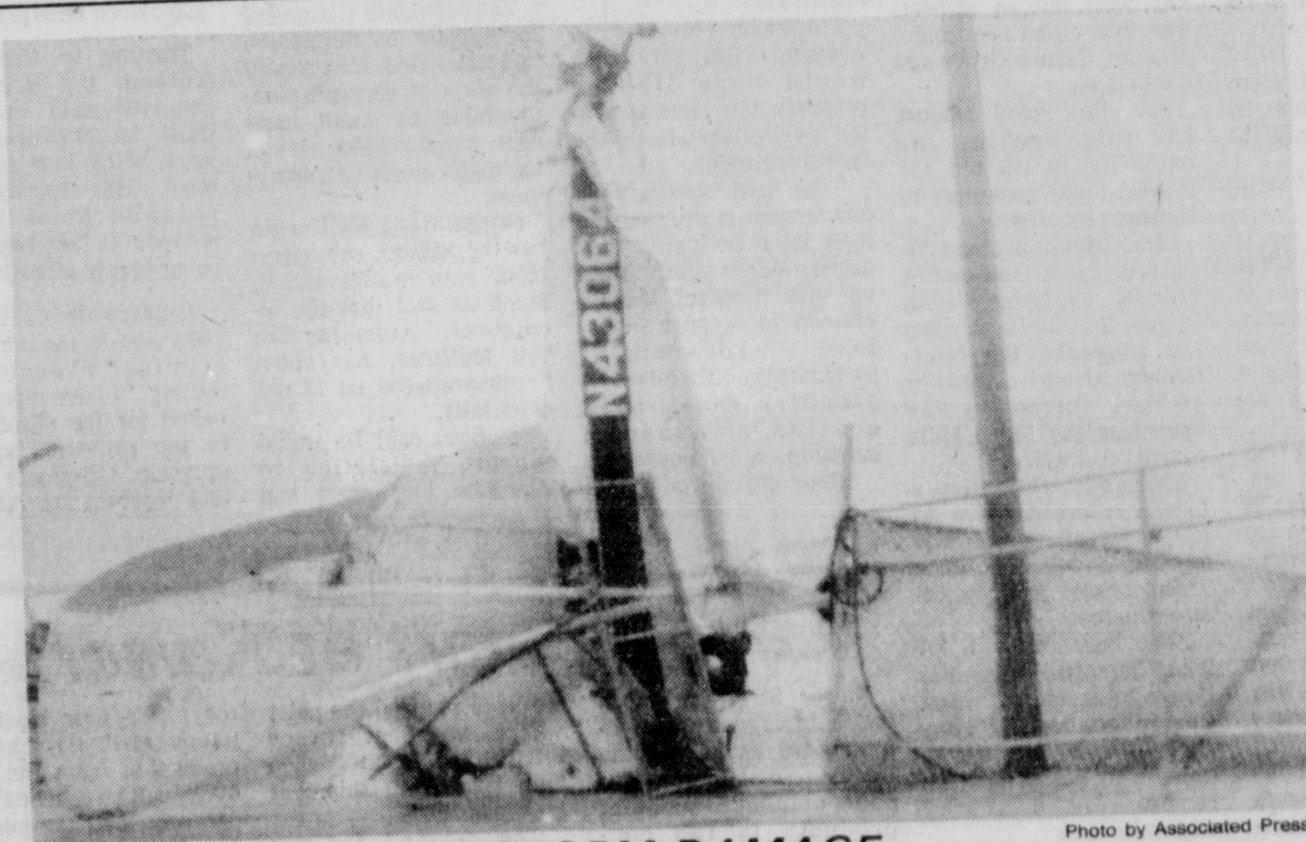

Off-duty Upland fireman Tom Mosley rescued Trenholm.

The youths had been washed a distance of about a mile. They went into the channel at 4:50 p.m.

The storm which hit the valley Thursday night dropped 1.77 inches of rain by 8 p.m. Friday, according to the PB Gauge measurement. Of that amount 1.40 inches fell between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. Friday.

National Weather Service forecast 50 per cent chance of heavy showers early today, decreasing by tonight and fair on Sunday.

Jet, 92 aboard, hijacked; N.Y. bomb blast kills officer

A small plane at Yuma International Airport, Ariz., was destroyed Friday when it was ripped from its moorings by winds which gusted up to 90 miles an hour. All of Yuma County was without power for about four hours because of tropical storm Kathleen. Hundreds of trees were uprooted and at least one person was killed and 11 injured in Yuma by the storm.

Croatians threaten to explode 2nd bomb 'somewhere in U.S.'

GANDER, Newfoundland (AP) — Croatian nationalists hijacked a New York-to-Chicago jetliner Friday night and gave police directions to a bomb planted in the heart of New York City. The bomb exploded when experts tried to disarm it, killing one policeman and injuring three.

The hijackers warned that another bomb would explode "somewhere in the United States" unless an eight-page communique was printed by five major newspapers. The communique, pressing Croat demands for independence from Yugoslavia, was found with the bomb.

The communique was signed "Fighters for Free Croatia." Croatia, now part of Yugoslavia, has been an area of intense nationalistic feelings since long before World War I erupted in another Balkan state.

The hijackers demanded that these newspapers print the communique: the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times, the Washington Post, the Chicago Tribune and the International Herald Tribune, an English-language daily published in Paris.

One of the hijackers aboard the Trans World Airlines Boeing 727 was reported armed with a bomb.

The jet, which airline officials said carried 92 persons, landed in Gander about midnight after refueling in Montreal.

No one was permitted to leave the plane in Montreal, but Canadian officials said the hijackers had agreed to release no more than 30 passengers.

The hijackers' "apparent destination" was Yugoslavia, according to a spokesman for the Canadian Transport Department. Earlier, there were reports that they wanted to go to London, but that might have been only an intermediate stop.

In Montreal, an air traffic controller said the pilot of the hijacked plane told her there was one hijacker in the cockpit. It was not clear how many others might be aboard the plane.

The controller, Nicole Viau, said the pilot of the hijacked plane, said "kept emphasizing there was one hijacker in the cockpit with a bomb ready to explode by just pressing a button."

Miss Viau, supervisor of air traffic operations at Montreal's Mirabel Airport where the jet refueled, quoted the pilot as saying the hijackers "were very serious about it and not strictly operating within the aircraft itself. These hijackers seem to be in contact with other people in La Guardia and whatever destination they were going to."

"They were armed with a bomb," Miss Viau said.

She also told the pilot that the hijacker said he and his comrades "knew the penalty for hijacking but ... were ready to die if their demands were not respected."

In the last few years, some Croat separatists have demanded complete independence from Yugoslavia. The government of that Communist state has tried to repress the dissidents, but terrorist acts have continued.

Last February, Croat separatists were linked to the assassination of Yugoslavia's consul general in Frankfurt, West Germany.

The ultimate goal of the hijackers aboard the U.S. jetliner remained a mystery.

According to Trans World Airlines officials, the Boeing 727 lacked the range for a flight from Canada to Britain — if indeed London was the hijackers' destination.

An airline spokesman said the jet had a range of about 1,600 miles. The 727 could not fly nonstop from either Montreal or Gander to London unless it stopped to refuel in Iceland, the spokesman said.

Continuation of brain surgery urged to improve behavior

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brain surgery to change behavior has helped some patients and should be allowed to continue, says a federal advisory commission on protection of human research subjects.

Critics of so-called psychosurgery contend it amounts to "murdering the mind" and can make a patient mentally dull and vegetable-like.

But in its statement Friday, the National Commission for the Protection of Human Subjects of Biomedical and Behavioral Research said "psychosurgery has potential merit." It said the risks are "not nearly as great as previously supposed," posing perhaps less of a hazard to the patient than prolonged drug or electroshock treatment.

The commission, created two years ago to advise the secretary of health, education and welfare, recommended that the HEW secretary "conduct and support" psychosurgery on a research basis.

It also urged that psychosurgery be done primarily at research centers, and that it be limited to patients whom nothing else has helped.

With safeguards such as court hearings, psychosurgery should not be denied even to involuntarily confined mental patients or prisoners, since it sometimes "may be their best if not only possibility for recovery," the commission said.

And it said psychosurgery can also be done ethically on a child or minor after a court hearing.

The commission said studies indicate that the belief that all forms of psychosurgery are unsafe and ineffective "has been rebutted."

"A large proportion of patients — about half" found relief for their "disabling emotional disorders," said Dr. Kenneth Ryan of Harvard University, head of the commission.

Largely because of criticism, the operations have dropped from probably a few thousand a year in the early 1950s to some 300 last year.

Conferees' budget calls for $13 billion more than Ford's

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees agreed Friday on a budget resolution calling for $13 billion more spending than President Ford had recommended.

It contemplates a deficit of $50.6 billion, about $3 billion more than Ford's figure. The additional spending was partly offset by higher estimates of government revenue, which would be increased by the tax revision bill on which Congress is expected to take final action next week.

The resolution sets spending ceilings and a revenue floor for the year beginning Oct. 1. It could be revised next year. Conferees noted that this might happen under some circumstances, especially if unemployment does not decline as much as is now hoped.

Both chambers are expected to vote on the resolution next Wednesday, with approval likely. Binding on Congress, the resolution is not subject to presidential veto.

Reflecting the emphasis the majority Democrats place on job-stimulating programs, the resolution calls for spending $22.2 billion in the budget category for education, employment and social services, about $3.8 billion more than Ford recommended.

Health spending was set at $38.9 billion, $2.4 billion above the presidential budget, and income security, the category including Social Security and unemployment benefits, at $137.2 billion, $1 billion above Ford's figure.

For defense, the resolution budgets $100.6 billion, $976 million under Ford's recommendation, and for international affairs $6.9 billion, $237 million under Ford's figure.

Skyjackers are nabbed

LAHORE, Pakistan (AP) — Police staged a commando-type raid early Saturday to capture a half dozen hijackers and seven crew members of an Indian Airlines jet, Foreign Ministry officials reported.

All the 71 passengers aboard had been released earlier by the sky pirates and were taken to the departure lounge to await a plane to return them to India.

Officials declined to give any details, including the nationalities of the six hijackers. They also would not say how police managed to seize the gunmen.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman here said an official statement would be made later in the day.

The hijackers had demanded the plane be refueled and flown to an unspecified destination, according to airport officials.

Devore Freeway's last section to open

The final segment of the Devore Freeway between Ontario and the Barstow Freeway north of San Bernardino will be dedicated and opened to traffic on Sept. 22.

The segment involves seven miles of roadway between Foothill Boulevard in Cucamonga and Sierra Avenue north of Fontana.

At present, motorists are using completed sections at both ends of the freeway route. These are the sectors which extend south from the Barstow Freeway to Sierra Avenue and from the San Bernardino Freeway near the Ontario Motor Speedway to Foothill Boulevard.

When opened, the Devore Freeway will provide a savings in fuel and a reduction of traffic congestion through San Bernardino.

By motorists taking the 15-mile shorter route to the desert and Las Vegas, officials predict a savings of seven million gallons of fuel annually.

At present, San Bernardino has heavy traffic on weekends and holidays as vehicles from three directions are funneled through the area.

The 15-mile freeway section was built in eight separate projects, costing $60 million. Work has begun to extend the freeway south to the Pomona Freeway. Eventually, it will connect the local area with San Diego.

The freeway dedication will start at 2 p.m. on the southbound lanes near the Sierra Avenue on-ramp.

The program will include some tanker trucks snipping a ribbon to signify the savings in fuel caused by the shorter freeway route.

Following the ceremony, a reception will be held at the Ontario Motor Speedway.

State highway officials estimate that 20,000 vehicles per day will be using the freeway section. Many vehicles, including trucks, are now using the opened sections and using local streets through the unopened sector.

Iran interested in 300 planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Pentagon official disclosed Friday that Iran is interested in buying up to 300 F16 lightweight jet fighters from the United States.

The administration currently is seeking congressional approval to sell 160 F16s to Iran at a price of about $3.8 billion, despite Capitol Hill qualms that this and other massive weapons deals with Iran may serve to fuel a new arms race in the Middle East.

687 cadets convicted with no trial: West Point head

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Army Secretary Martin R. Hoffmann and the superintendent of the U.S. Military Academy attacked on Friday the sworn accusations that 687 more cadets have committed honor code violations.

"This is public conviction without trial," Lt. Gen. Sidney B. Berry, the superintendent, declared in a statement released here. "I call it McCarthyism."

At a news conference in Washington, Hoffmann again refused to accept affidavits signed by what he now calls "faceless accusers."

The affidavits have been offered to the Army on grounds that the names involved not be used for prosecutions. They have also been shown to reporters on the basis that the names not be used.

While reporting "only hearsay" knowledge of the 150 documents, the Army secretary said he would investigate bribe-receiving charges in them against Lt. Frederick Borman "to the extent that there are material allegations."

Borman, son of former astronaut Frank Borman, graduated in 1974. Two classmates say he was given $1,200 to "fix" an honor case in 1973. He and the alleged bribers deny the charge categorically.

Though bombarded by the Army's criticism, defense lawyers won a round in the U.S. Military Court of Appeals on Friday.

The three-judge court said cadets convicted in West Point's worst cheating scandal and then expelled could appeal to the court, which would "reassess any errors," once all administrative remedies are exhausted. That last remedy would be an appeal to Hoffmann.

The civilian court, however, refused to halt the proceedings against the 226 seniors who were implicated since the scandal surfaced.

Of that number 156 cadets have admitted their guilt, lost their appeals or left the academy before the charges could be resolved.

Airport issue debated

Chino Councilwoman Eileen Carter made the Chino Hills airport controversy a live issue again this week.

Although she was rebuffed by her fellow council members, Mrs. Carter proposed withdrawing from a four-city joint powers authority studying the need for an airport. The four cities are Chino, Stanton, Garden Grove and Santa Ana.

She also voted against the city backing the authority in its bid for federal funds necessary to continue its studies.

Mrs. Carter became involved in a somewhat heated exchange with Mayor Bob McLeod when she suggested the Inter-County Airport Authority (ICAA) formerly was known as the Chino Hills Airport Authority.

McLeod, the city's former representative to ICAA, said he never was associated with any other group, or one using a different name.

"The concern by ICAA for a Chino Hills airport is thinly disguised," Mrs. Carter charged. "They changed their name from Chino Hills authority when it became a sticky wicket."

Mrs. Carter, who said later she opposes an airport for Chino Hills, voted against federal funds for ICAA because, she noted, Chino eventually would have to pay something.

The council voted 4-1, with Mrs. Carter dissenting, to authorize ICAA as its agent to prepare and file applications for federal funds for "airport studies."

Blacklisted writer Dalton Trumbo dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Screenwriter Dalton Trumbo, who was blacklisted by the film industry and imprisoned during the Red-hunts of the 1940s and 1950s but won an Oscar under an assumed name, died Friday. He was 70.

The script writer of "30 Seconds over Tokyo," "Hawaii" and "Papillon" succumbed to heart failure at his Hollywood home amid the honors of his long career, including an Oscar he received 25 years late. He had a lung removed in 1972 because of cancer.

Trumbo was one of Hollywood's most successful writers until 1947, when he was summoned to testify before the House Un-American Activities Committee about alleged Communist activities.

He was one of the "Hollywood 10" who defied the committee and refused to testify and was subsequently sentenced to prison for contempt of

By The Associated Press
The collision of a British airliner and a Yugoslav chartered jet near Zagreb on Friday was the worst two-plane crash in aviation history. The collision killed 176 persons.

The worst previous collision occurred over Murioka, Japan on July 30, 1971, when an AllNippon Boeing 727 and a Japanese Air Force F-86 collided, killing 162 persons.

Other airliner collisions:
A United Airlines DC-8 jet and a TWA Super Constellation collided over New York City's Staten Island on Dec. 16, 1960, killing 134 persons.

A TWA Super Constellation and a United Airlines DC-7 collided over the Grand Canyon in Arizona on June 30, 1956, killing 128 persons.

An Allegheny DC-9 collided with a student pilot's plane over Shelbyville, Ind., on Sept. 9, 1969, killing 83 persons.

A Piedmont Boeing 727 and a Cessna 310 collided over Hendersonville, N.C., on July 19, 1967, killing 82 persons.

A U.S. Navy plane and a Brazilian airliner collided over Rio de Janeiro Bay on Feb. 25, 1960, killing 61 persons.

An Eastern Airlines DC-4 and a Bolivian P-38 fighter plane collided near Washington, D.C. on Nov. 1, 1949, killing 55 persons.

The worst crash involving a single aircraft occurred on March 3, 1974, when a Turkish DC-10 jet crashed in Ermenonville, near Paris, France, killing 345 persons.

Other major one-plane crashes include:

An Aeroflot Ilyushin-62 crashed after takeoff near Moscow on Oct. 13, 1972, killing 176 persons.

Three months later, a crash in Nigeria claimed the same number of lives — 176. The passengers on the chartered Boeing 707 were making a pilgrimage to Mecca. The plane burst into flames when it landed at the airport in Kano in northern Nigeria.

On April 4, 1975, a U.S. Air Force Galaxy C-58 crashed near Saigon, killing 172 persons. Most of the victims were children — part of "Operation Babylift," which was taking Vietnamese children to the United States in the last days before the South Vietnamese capital fell to the Communists.

An East German Ilyushin-62 crashed on takeoff from East Berlin, on Aug. 14, 1972, killing 156 persons.

A Venezuelan DC-9 crashed after takeoff from Maracaibo, Venezuela, on March 16, 1969, killing 155 persons.

THOMAS D. JONES

Thomas D. Jones of 11795 Pine Ave., Fontana, died Thursday at a Fontana hospital following a sudden attack which occurred at his home.

Mr. Jones was born Oct. 16, 1904 in Gas City, Ind. He had lived in Fontana 28 years. He worked 13 years as a sociologist at the California Rehabilitation Center in Norco, retiring in 1972.

For 10 years before that he was employed by the San Bernardino County Welfare Department.

Mr. Jones received his degree in sociology from the University of Redlands in 1958. As a young man he attended Yale University and the Indiana University. He played football at both schools.

He was a member of Masonic Lodge 716 in Gary, Ind.

Surviving are his widow, Martha; a daughter, Dr. Johanna Jones Clausen of Rhinelander, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. Elsie Williams and Mrs. Elizabeth Evans, both of Santa Ana.

Services will be held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the Dickey Mortuary in Fontana. Interment will follow in Montecito Memorial Park in San Bernardino.

ISAAC W. SCOTT

Isaac Wilton Scott, 4400 Philadelphia Ave., Space 215, Chino, died Friday at Loma Linda University Hospital, Loma Linda.

He was born May 23, 1896, in Missouri.

Mr. Scott moved to Chino six years ago from Springfield, Mo. He was a U.S. Army veteran of World War I and a member of the Church of Christ in Chino.

Survivors include his widow, Alma; a daughter, Bernice M. Threlfall, Carlsbad; a son, Jack Woods, Chino; a brother, Nefton Scott, Springfield, Mo.; and three grandchildren.

Visitation hours are 7 to 9 p.m. today and 1 to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Shipment will be made to Springfield, Mo., for burial.

Stephens opens campaign office with attack on Mc Vittie's record

Clyde Stephens, Republican nominee in the 65th Assembly District, opened his campaign office Friday by accusing his opponent of helping to kill legislation that would have limited property tax increases.

"The incumbent from this district was at that time acting as chairman of the Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee. He killed this much needed reform in committee by withholding it from consideration."

Stephens referred to Assembly Bill 337 which would have limited property tax increases to the level of the rise in the consumer index.

"The hard working men and women in this country have let it be known they are no longer going to put up with constant tax increases to support worthless government programs. Excessive property taxes have created a financial hardship on homeowners. "Poor and retired people are giving up their homes because they cannot afford to pay their tax assessments. What has caused this crisis? The cause is lawmakers who represent special interest groups. The majority, under out present program, is forced to suffer for the needs of a small minority," he charged.

Stephens said he has repeatedly called for, worked and supported a limitation on taxes. The candidate also called for support on businesses and industries. He accused the state of becoming unfavorable to small business, which is being seen in the high rate of unemployment.

Noting that California has the highest unemployment rate in the nation, Stephens said that the incumbent, Assemblyman Bill McVittie, has voted "anticommerce on 12 out of 15 bills."

Stephens said he would support legislation to stimulate businesses and industries to hire the unemployed. "We must get away from the stigma that business is bad," he urged.

The present structure of the state legislature has voted consistently to make the burden on industry and business heavier than they can bear because of the inventory tax, said Stephens.

He suggested a tax incentive be given those firms would hire the "hard-core unemployed."

Turning to the crime problem, the Republican candidate said residents must be encouraged to work with law enforcement. He described the neighborhood watch program in Los Angeles as being highly effective.

Stephens also called for a reduction in the convicted criminal's access to society. "I have repeatedly called for the elimination of the probation subsidy program. Criminals under this program are released on probation at the expense of the taxpayers.

"This program is a proven failure. Statistics show a majority of these probationers are rearrested," he charged.

400 to lose jobs in Fontana

Layoffs start at Kaiser

Kaiser Steel Corp. has begun laying off approximately 400 employees at the Fontana steel mill due to poor demand for steel products in the corporation's Western states marketing area.

"The heavy construction industry which accounts for a major part of Kaiser Steel's business has not recovered from last year's recession," said M.J. Smith, Fontana works manager.

"We have been producing a substantial amount of semi-finished products to add to our inventory, but we have reached the point where we must reduce production to be in balance with lower mill shipment demands.

"As demand for our product increases, these employees will be recalled; however, right now the timing is uncertain."

As part of the reduction of production levels, one of the mill's four blast furnaces will be banked, production from the coke ovens will be reduced by 15 per cent, and the number of open-hearth furnaces in operation will be reduced from six to five.

Peak employment at the mill this year was 8,400 in August.

Search for missing woman continues

Glendora Police Department Detective Timothy Pfeiffer today said that investigators have contacted everyone they believe may have information about the disappearance of 18-year-old Cynthia Hernandez, but are no closer to finding her than when she first was reported missing Aug. 26.

The young woman, who planned to enter Citrus College as a freshman this month, was last seen by her family that night when she left home to attend a movie in Covina.

When she failed to return home the search was begun and her car was found parked behind the theater. However, no one who was there that night remembered having seen her enter the theater.

Miss Hernandez' mother, Gloria Temblor, told Pfeiffer that Cynthia had no problems that she knew of and that she did not believe her daughter had run away.

Pfeiffer said the investigation was continuing.

Students need more direction: parents

Fundamental school a possibility

Students need direction about what they should learn, said the biggest bloc of parents in a Pomona schools survey.

Emphasis should be on reading, writing and arithmetic, said the second largest group.

Behavior, said those in the third largest group, is a shared responsibility of students, teachers and others.

Some 2,246 Pomona parents responded to the detailed questionnaire suggesting possibilities which may be considered in setting up an alternative school here.

An alternative school, which by law could accommodate up to 10 per cent of the district's average daily attendance (ADA), has been discussed by the school board for the past several years.

The survey, started in June, was carried on by the Committee on Alternate Programs or Schools of the District Curriculum Council in the Pomona school district.

Chaired by Marshall Junior High School art teacher Jill Fulton, this committee has been studying various types of school alternatives the past year and a half.

Alternative schools, it was pointed out, vary from usual district-operated schools and may range from strict, basic, firmly controlled situations to very unstructured, student-run programs. They have been established in other districts when groups of parents in sufficient strength make requests.

The fact that so many parents did reply to the survey definitely suggests an interest in having some options within the Pomona district, Mrs. Fulton told the school board Tuesday.

"Only 11 per cent of the parents, 12 per cent of the staff members and 10 per cent of the students polled indicated a preference for their present programs," said Mrs. Fulton.

In the survey parents were asked to choose between four types of programs, ranging from tightly structured to unstructured, or design one themselves.

Areas touched were a basic assumption on education, the curriculum, the learning approach, the grouping of students, discipline and evaluation.

Of the 2,246 parents who replied, 480 preferred the most structured, 524 the second-most structured, 190 preferred less control while 33 opted for practically no control. However, 780 took time to write individually designed programs for their children. Only 239 selected the present system.

Of the 379 students polled, 43 favored a more structured program, 63 favored slightly less control, 40 even less control and 116 no control. Some 79 wrote individual programs.

Some 415 staff members participated in the survey. Only 48 favored present programming, 137 wrote individual programs, 79 favored the most structured program, 108 opted for slightly less control, 35 for even less and only eight for practically no control.

Mrs. Fulton told the board that:

—Since 480 parents indicated a preference for the tightly structured program "enrollment probably would justify such an option in Pomona."

—Since 190 parents preferred a more loosely structured program with students grouped on the basis of shared interest assuming that behavior is a shared responsibility, "enrollment probably would justify such an option in Pomona."

—Since 524 parents preferred a program in between one probably was justified.

—Since 780 parents and 137 staff members took time to study program elements and design their own ideas, "there is clearly an interest in at least partially altering present programs."

School board President Mary Montes "encouraged" the committee to "build alternative programs within our resources" which may be brought back to the board for consideration.

Administrators were directed to work with the committee in locating a site in district facilities for such an alternative program.

Associate Supt. Sidney G. Moses commended the committee for its many long hours of hard work.

School-Griswold's land swap continuing

The Claremont school board has approved release of about 13.5 acres of the old Claremont High School site to A.L. Sanford, owner of Griswold's Old School House commercial complex at Foothill and Indian Hill boulevards.

District Business Manager Charles Abbott recommended the action Tuesday night at the board meeting.

The entire site comprising 20.3 acres was bought by Sanford in January 1970 for $880,100.

He made a down payment of $220,000 and has made the first three of seven annual payments of $94,297 each.

The district will retain possession of 6.8 net acres including the GOSH site and all but one of the completely renovated buildings as security against the balance of $319,399 which Sanford owes the district.

In a letter to Abbott, Sanford estimated that the market value of the improvements is $1,175,000, and that after deducting $175,000 for the Pavilion which is outside the retained area, land and improvements come to $1,592,416, making a 5-1 ratio of security to debt.

"This should be more than sufficient to secure the balance due on the note," Sanford said.

In other action Tuesday night, the board:

—Authorized agreements with Bonita Unified School District and the city of Claremont for data processing services.

—Authorized an agreement with Paul's Yellow Cab Inc. to provide home-to-school transportation at $25 a day for educable mentally retarded students who will be attending Grace Miller School in the Bonita District.

—Authorized the district to assign the rights and duties in a contract between the district and Driftwood Dairy to Temple Vending Services.

Driftwood Dairy signed a five-year contract June 5, 1972, but has advised the district staff that the dairy can no longer "economically" operate such a diversified portion of their business.

Driftwood Dairy supplied to Claremont High, El Roble Intermediate and La Puerta Intermediate schools such items as milk, juices, hot and cold drinks, pastries, ice cream, chips and hot canned foods for vending machines.

EUGENE R. DEWEESE

Retires

Eugene R. DeWeese of Claremont, a developer of numerous teaching aides for the handicapped has retired from General Telephone Co.

He had been in the telecommunications industry 29 years.

DeWeese developed the speech therapy audio doll that is used by the Bassett Unified School District to aid children with speech problems.

Through his association with the Holmwood-Lorbeer Club of the Independent Telephone Pioneers Association in Pomona, he helped create a unique telephone switchboard for therapeutic instruction for patients at Pacific State Hospital.

He engineered and helped assemble a prototype of the Soni-Guide, an electronic device to help the blind develop confidence and motor coordination.

Originally it was used by patients at Pacific State. Now it is manufactured for nationwide use.

DeWeese joined General Telephone in 1947 as an equipment installer in Santa Monica. He was named traffic facilities superintendent in Pomona in 1972.

He was awarded the Pioneer of the Year award in 1974 and again in 1975. He plans to continue his work in electronic research in retirement.

DeWeese and his wife, Lucia, have a daughter, Mrs. Glen Graeber, and a son, Eugene R. DeWeese.

Sears project

Pomona Sears employees are taking part in a unique Bicentennial celebration.

They are participating in a contest designed to determine which of them does the most of the community and should receive the recognition and title of Citizen of the Year.

The contest is an effort to give recognition to Sears employees who spend free time as community volunteers, said J. S. Ambrose, store manager.

"It's appropriate during the Bicentennial, which also happens to be Sears' 90th anniversary."

Marketing chief

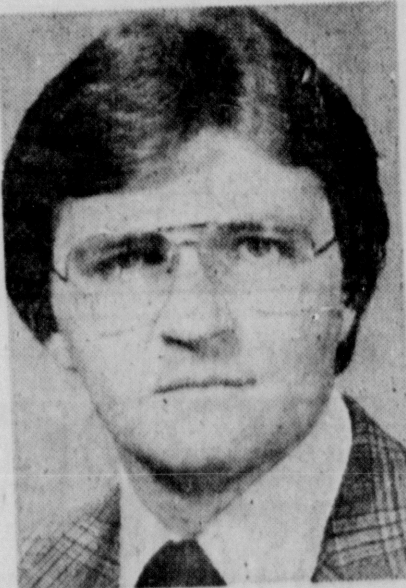

Dan Mulvena has been hired as group product manager of Inspiron a Division of C. R. Bard, Inc. in Upland and will be moving from Massachusetts into the Upland area.

In his new position, Mulvena will be responsible for coordinating and meeting Inspiron's expanding marketing goals, according to Jim Yarter, vice president and general manager of Inspiron.

He is coming to Inspiron from USCI, another Division of C. R. Bard, Inc., in Massachusetts.

He began his career with Bard in 1972 as a sales representative.

Inspiron manufactures inhalation therapy equipment and disposable medical products.

Expand We T.I.P. phones

Former U.S. astronaut-aquonaut Scott Carpenter, new national honorary chairman of We Turn In Pushers, Inc., has announced the expansion of We T.I.P. statewide telephone line.

Carpenter, one of the first astronauts to orbit the earth and awarded the Navy's Legion of Merit for his work in Sea Lab II, said that "taxpayers are tired of being victimized at the rate of $85 a year of every man woman and child, because of drug abuse."

Carpenter told newsmen and dignitaries at the Greater Los Angeles Press Club that thanks to a special $60,000 grant from the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, We T.I.P. would be able to expand. We T.I.P. was among 46 Los Angeles county organizations to receive approval, thus far, of special grant money. The grant will enable We T.I.P. to extend its telephone service to six days a week, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Bill Brownell, founder and state director of We T.I.P. at the news conference said that since the toll free telephone line (800-472-7785) opened in Ontario in 1972 the information received from anonymous tipsters has resulted in the confiscation of $17.5 million in illegal drugs.

Brownell explained that persons with information about suspected drug pushers in their communities may call We T.I.P. and anonymously report their data.

He said the data from the anonymous informant is forwarded to the appropriate law enforcement agency for investigation. Local law enforcement agencies, with the aid of We T.I.P. information combined with other investigative information, have arrested more than 1,200 suspected drug pushers. Of the more than 1,200 arrested, 700 pushers have been convicted in courts of law.

"We T.I.P. gives the people a chance to fight back, to clean up the schools and streets of our state," said Brownell calling attention to the fact that currently 80 per cent of all hard drugs entering the United States is coming through California.

Bernard J. Hale, vice president of operations of the Bergen Brunswig Corp.'s subsidiary, Scherer Medical Scientific in Dallas, Tex., introducing Carpenter, said that his firm is among many large industries supporting the We T.I.P. program.

Also on hand for the press conference were Ontario Mayor Paul Treadway, Pomona City Councilman Georgia Grove and Dr. Forest S. Tennat, Jr., principal health investigator, Public Health Foundation of Los Angeles County.

'Extended hand' for women

"There are women just lying around in their homes — dying — not even knowing there are those like themselves who can help," said Claudia Beebe, an alcoholic.

Claudia who resides at the Extended Hand, woman's alcoholism home at 508 W. Euclid Ave. in Ontario said she wants women alcoholics to know that help is available at her home.

Claudia just four months ago was brought to the home suffering from the effects of prolonged alcoholism that had nearly destroyed her life. She was unaware that there was a program called "Extended Hand" founded by Wayne Fanning in 1975 especially for the treatment of the woman alcoholic.

Since Claudia began living at the Extended Hand house on the corner of Laurel Avenue and Park Street she has become the housemother for other women alcoholics coming to the home for help.

In the past year and one-half nearly 200 women alcoholics have been welcomed at the Extended Hand home and stayed long enough to learn how to help themselves, many returning to their families and jobs.

Claudia explained that women who come to Extended Hand for help will be welcomed and assigned a bed at the home. For three or four days the women are encouraged to rest and build up their strength.

If a woman at the home begins experiencing delirium tremers after several days and does not believe she can handle it she is taken to one of the local hospitals and placed under the care of one of four physicians working with the AEP or Extended Hand programs. After one or two days of treatment at the hospital the women are returned to the home where more rest and strength building is encouraged.

During the next 30 to 60 days the women are counseled by one of four regular counselors through the AEP program, and are encouraged to attend at least three group counseling sessions a week in the AEP Social Hall. Meanwhile the women are encouraged to take part in many of the home and center's activities including work projects and social activities.

Counselors will also help the women re-establish themselves with their families, their vocations or professions, and with the community.

The women stay at the home an average of 30 days before deciding to return to their homes. Many of the women return to visit others at the home for continued encouragement, said Claudia.

New tennis club in foothills

A new tennis country club is planned in the foothills above Alta Loma where 11 playing courts and a glass-walled clubhouse will afford a panoramic view of the valley.

Construction will begin in October and the facility will open early next year as the Hillside Racquet Club, owners David Culbertson and Chuck Phillips announced this week.

The location is a 10-acre site on Haven Avenue north of Hillside Avenue — about one mile north of Chaffey College.

Other components of the complex will be a swimming pool, therapeutic pool, two handball-racquetball courts, training alleys with ball machines, jogging track and a child care center.

"It is a tennis country club in the real sense of the word," Culbertson said. "It will be one of the biggest and most ambitious in Southern California."

The clubhouse at the north end of the site will overlook the courts, pool and the valley beyond, with the glass wall to run along the south side.

A view through the glass will be possible from the clubhouse's lounge and club room, sunken bar and dining area.

The 5,700-square-foot building also will contain men's and women's locker rooms with exercise equipment, a pro shop and conference room for club and business meetings.

The owners said Bill Larson of Alta Loma, a graduate of Vic Braden's Coto de Caza tennis program, will be the Hillside pro.

Six of the 11 courts will be lighted, according to the owners, and a center court with rolling lawn sides will be the hub of tournament activity.

Additional courts are projected for the future.

There'll be a full tennis schedule, the owners said, including tournaments, ladder challenges and lessons, plus swimming lessons and meets as well.

The social schedule will include holiday dances and parties, informal weekly gatherings and summer travel groups.

Entertainment also will be provided for children at the child care center.

The owners said the club will be selling memberships of various types in the coming weeks. Prior to the opening of the clubhouse, the 350 lifetime memberships will cost from $650 to $850, depending on the number of family members.

U. Club to hear talk on lawyers

Stephen Zetterberg, Claremont attorney, will speak to fellow members of the University Club of Claremont Tuesday noon at Griswold's. His topic will be "Woe Unto You Lawyers."

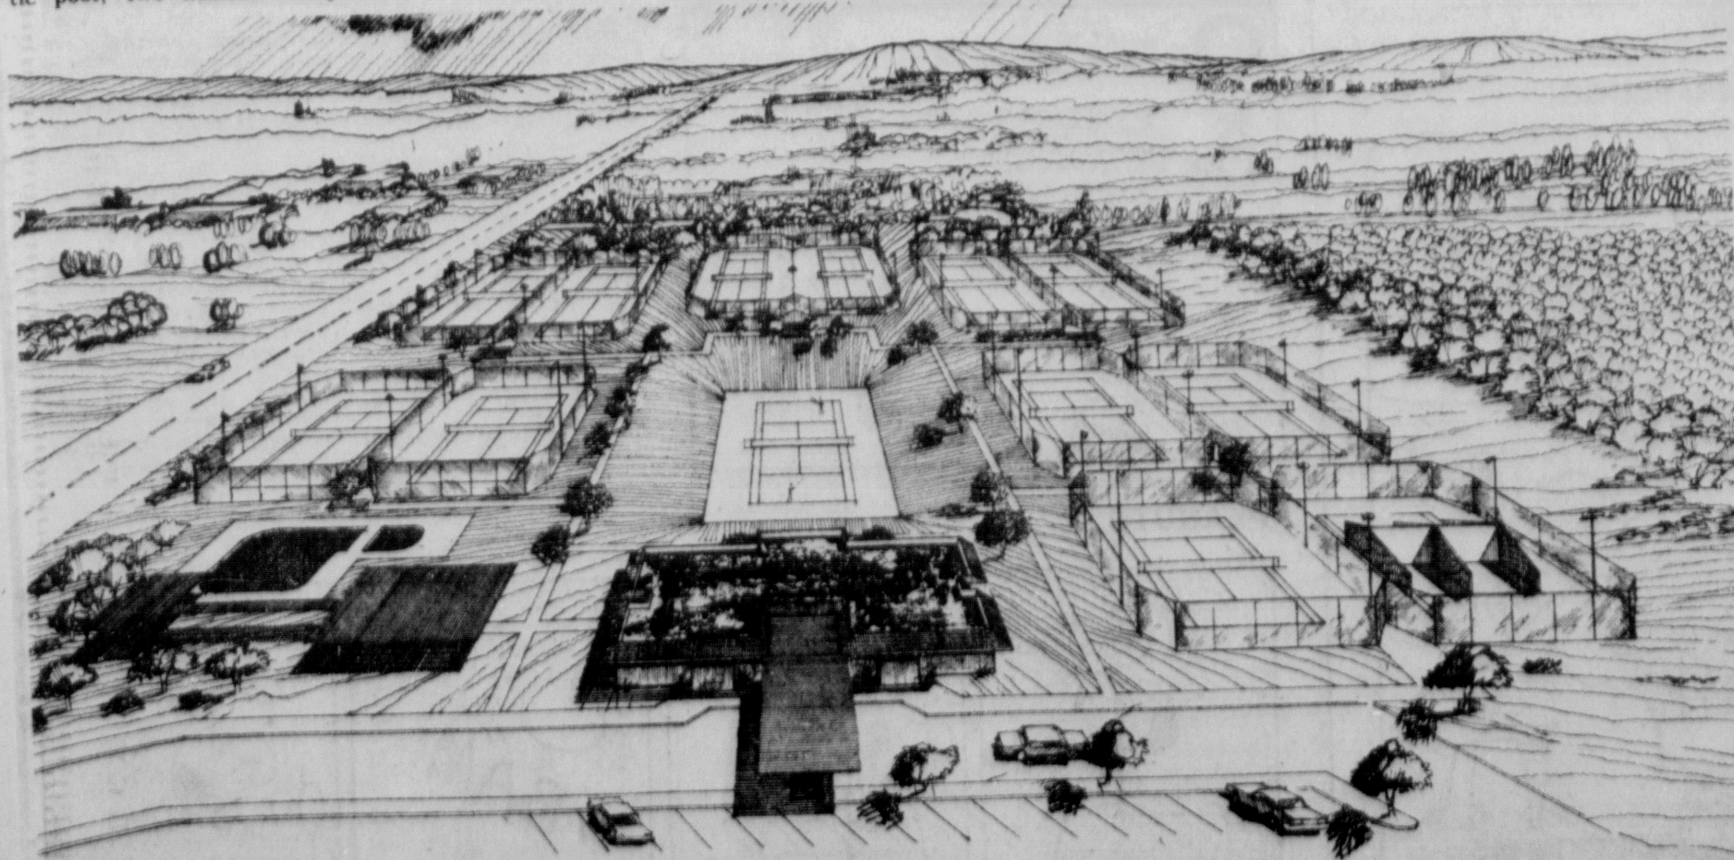

Zetterberg has participated extensively in civic, educational, and political affairs in the Claremont and state areas for many years.

A 10-year member of the Casa Colina Hospital board during its changeover from crippled children's convalescent facilities to full-service rehabilitation hospital, he also has served two four-year terms on the state Board of Public Health.

He is a board member and secretary of the Claremont Foundation, and formerly served on the Claremont Civic Housing Association.

The giant anteater is a rare animal that lives in the damp tropical forests of Central and South America. It grows to be about four feet long, with a bushy tail that adds another 3 feet. It is sometimes called an "ant bear" because of its coarse coat of hair and its size. This toothless animal lives mainly on ants and termites. It wanders about at night in search of anthills and termite nests. Many of the termites the giant anteater hunts build large nests of hard mud, which the giant anteater rips open with its strong, sharp claws. Its tiny, tubelike mouth contains a sticky, wormlike tongue more than a foot long. Each time the giant anteater sticks its long tongue into a termite or ant nest, it comes out with hundreds of insects glued to it. The giant anteater has no permanent home. It wanders alone, searching for food, stopping only to curl up and sleep, its long bushy tail forming a blanket over its body. A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Adult school

Claremont Adult School is opening two co-op preschool classes next week in conjunction with the parent-child interaction program.

One class will be held Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 9 a.m. to noon at Mt. View School. The second class will be held Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to noon at Oakmont School.

Children of participating parents will be offered an opportunity to grow both emotionally and educationally while their parents receive instruction in working within the classroom as well as furthering parental skills.

Further information may be received by phoning 624-6402 or 624-9053, ext. 273.

After school

After-school care for children in grades one to three at Lincoln and Roosevelt elementary schools in Pomona will be offered starting Tuesday by the Pomona Valley YMCA.

The Y-Care program will be available every afternoon Pomona schools are in session for a monthly cost of $50 per child.

Children will be picked up at the school by the YMCA van and taken to the central branch of the YMCA in Pomona. There the children will participate in arts, crafts, swimming, gym activities and other supervised activities.

Parents will be required to pick up their child by 6 p.m.

Membership in the YMCA is also required for children enrolled in the program.

Maximum enrollment will be limited to 15 children from each school.

For information, persons may call 623-6433.

Slim class

Slim living classes for men, women and teenagers will be offered at the West End YMCA in Ontario starting Wednesday.

There will be 10-week classes at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Gail Wenz, teacher, said the slim living program was developed eight years ago at a Port Huron, Mich., YMCA by Jo Ann Ploeger who lost 67 pounds.

This will be the first time it has been taught in Ontario.

Mrs. Wenz will teach a slimnastics exercise class for women on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 9:15 a.m. and on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. starting next week.

Registration information may be obtained by calling 986-5847.

Wilderness '76

A color motion picture on the Bicentennial titled "Wilderness '76" will be presented by Edward M. Brigham Jr. to the Pomona Forum audience Monday.

Forum programs are held in the Education Center auditorium at 800 S. Garey Ave. at 7:45 p.m.

They are a part of the adult education program and this year are a sell-out with 750 enrolled.

However, adult school officials expect to have some 30 seats available for the Monday program for the general public because, they explained, not everyone who enrolled will attend. Seats are $1 to the public.

In his commentary, Brigham emphasizes that one of America's finest heritages is its remaining wilderness, areas where wildlife can survive and people can enjoy natural regions.

His film takes viewers down the Colorado River in Grand Canyon, along Idaho's River-of-No-Return, through the Dinosaur National Monument and along the Lewis and Clark route through the Northern Rockies.

Revoked

The contractor's license for Nor-Vada Land Co., 869-C Foothill Blvd., Upland has been revoked by the Contractor's State License Board, the California Consumer Affairs Department has reported.

The report said Nor-Vada Land Co. disregarded plans and specifications or failed to complete a job in a good and workmanlike manner; disregarded and violated the building code; failed to complete a project at the price stated; and failed to comply with all sections of the Contractor's License Code.

The report said Nor-Vada Land Co. disregarded plans and specifications or failed to complete a job in a good and workmanlike manner; disregarded and violated the building code; failed to complete a project at the price stated; and failed to comply with all sections of the Contractor's License Code.

Sailing class

La Verne Recreation Department will offer a principle of sailing class beginning Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the conference room above the Police Department.

The fee for eight lessons is $5. Those 12 or older may enroll.

The course is intended to assist students in mastering sailboats.

Instruction will include the safe and proper maneuvering techniques of sailing.

Registrations are being accepted in the recreation office at 2039 Third St., La Verne.

Tot class

A five-week child developmental movement class will begin Tuesday at the West End YMCA in Ontario.

It will stress gross and fine motor development for children from three months to 5 years.

The class will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:15 to 9:45 a.m. for mothers and children from three to 12 months; Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10 to 10:30 a.m. for mothers and toddlers from 1 to 3 years; and Tuesdays and Thursdays from 10:35 to 11:15 a.m. for mothers and children from 3 to 5.

Learning to socially and emotionally play with others also will be covered. Additional information may be obtained from physical director Guy Fish at 986-5847.

A neurologically handicapped class for boys and girls 7 to 14 will begin at the Y on Sept. 17. It will meet Fridays from 4 to 5:30 p.m.

Sidewalks

Los Angeles County workers will construct sidewalks and driveway aprons on the north side of Petunia Street between Lone Hill Avenue and Glen-grove Avenue in Glendora. Parkway trees interfering with the construction will be removed and replaced with new trees as requested by property owners.

The work will increase safety conditions for children walking to nearby Sutherland Elementary School.

Polish lodge

Members of Polish National Alliance Lodge 3168 in Santa Ana will sponsor a polka party with a Hawaiian theme Sept. 18 at 9 p.m. at St. Gregory's Church Hall in Whittier.

Dave Miron and his Orchestra will play modern songs, waltzes, Obereks and polkas until 1 a.m.

Food and beverages will be served.

Cal Poly dean

Joan M. Greenway, chairman of the social sciences department at Cal Poly Pomona, has been appointed acting dean of the university's continuing education program.

As acting dean, Mrs. Greenway is responsible for the administration, budget and planning of the university's extension program of credit courses, continuing education non-credit programs and seminars, and external degree and travel study programs.

JOAN M. GREENWAY

Mrs. Greenway joined the Cal Poly Pomona faculty in 1971 as anthropology coordinator. She became chairman of the social sciences department in 1974.

A native of Australia, Mrs. Greenway came to the United States in 1966 and held teaching positions at Regis College, Denver, and the University of Colorado in Denver before joining the Cal Poly faculty. In Australia, she was active as a writer, narrator, newscaster and producer of television and radio programs.

She replaces Harold D. Crouse, who resigned the post after one year to assume a similar position at the University of Illinois.

Antibiotics hike farm risk

BOSTON (AP) — Farmers who keep their livestock healthy by feeding them antibiotics may be risking disease themselves by creating drug-resistant bacteria in their own systems, scientists report.

Drug-immune bacteria develop in animals that are given antibiotics, and they are passed on to the livestock's human handlers, the researchers say.

"It's a very serious health problem," said Dr. George B. FitzGerald, who helped conduct the research at Tufts University Medical School.

Results of the year-long study were published in the current issue of the New England Journal of Medicine. The research was paid for by the Animal Health Institute.

FitzGerald, now at Windham College in Putney, Vt., reported on the findings of a study conducted at a chicken farm in Sherborn, Mass.

The chickens were given a mixture of feed and tetracycline, a powerful antibiotic widely used to treat infections in humans. Chicken farmers often use the drug to prevent outbreaks of disease.

The chickens quickly developed large amounts of bacteria in their intestines that were resistant to tetracycline, the researchers found.

After six months, the same thing happened to members of a family living and working on the farm, FitzGerald said in an interview. The researchers found that the intestinal bacteria E. coli in the members of the farm family became resistant to the drug.

The E. coli bacteria aid digestion and their existence is necessary to the human system. However, other, more dangerous bacteria also acquired the immunity to tetracycline and other drugs when they came in contact with E. coli.

This resistance to drugs, FitzGerald said, would make it hard to treat a person who became ill because of a disease-carrying bacteria.

The researchers found, however, that six months after the chickens stopped receiving tetracycline, the farm residents no longer carried the drug-resistant bacteria in their intestines.

Of saccharine, milk, apartments, etc.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration's handling of the use of the artificial sweetener saccharin is causing the public to be exposed to unnecessary risk, according to a General Accounting Office report.

The GAO said in the report released on Thursday by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., that the FDA in 1972 issued an interim regulation covering use of saccharin after questions were raised about the potential that the additive could cause cancer.

The GAO said the safety questions aren't expected to be resolved for two more years.

"Extended use of a food additive, such as saccharin, whose safety has not been established and for which a question of carcinogenic potential has been raised could expose the public to unnecessary risk," the GAO said.

The GAO recommended that the FDA "re-evaluate the justification for saccharin's continued use pending the resolution of the safety questions." If the agency permits continued use of saccharin, the report said, it should consider reducing the permissible level so as to increase the safety factor.

Current FDA regulations permit the level of o-toluenesulfonamide, an impurity in saccharin, to be 100 parts per million.

The GAO said the impurity has possible carcinogenic potential and that technological advances permit reducing it to levels of less than 50 parts per million.

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N.Y. (AP) — Drinking two glasses of milk a day apparently has cut down the risk of getting stomach cancer among Japanese, says a researcher from Tokyo.

Dr. Takeshi Hirayama of the National Cancer Center Research Institute in Tokyo said Thursday that Japan's high death rate of stomach cancer has dropped about one-third since 1955, after a change, beginning in 1919, to higher consumption of milk and milk products, and other Western-type food.

Consumption of milk and milk products increased by 23 times from 1949 to 1973, he told a Conference on Origins of Cancer at the Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory.

A series of studies of 265,000 adults "clearly showed a significantly lower risk of stomach cancer in drinkers of two glasses of milk daily. The risk was lowest in non-smokers drinking two glasses of milk daily."

Some heart specialists advise drinking skim rather than whole milk as one part of a diet aimed at lowering the risk of atherosclerosis, the artery disease underlying heart attacks.

An Australian scientist said "evidence is accumulating to suggest a relationship between dietary fat (perhaps calorie excess) and endometrial cancer," the endometrium being the lining of the uterus.

Dr. B.K. Armstrong, of the University of Western Australia, said this relationship likely depends upon an effect of dietary fat upon production of estrogen, the female sex hormone.

Estrogens themselves may be directly able to cause cancer, or may produce an environment favorable to the effect of other cancer-causing agents, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has authorized the release of $2 billion to finance the construction of some 80,000 units of multifamily apartment housing.

Housing Secretary Carla Hills said Thursday that Ford authorized release of the funds under the extension of the emergency housing legislation he signed on Aug. 3.

The money will go for units insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Under the program, the government buys 7½ percent mortgages.

The programs will be carried out by the Government National Mortgage Association.

John C. Hart, president of the National Association of Home Builders, said the money "should be a big help to the seriously depressed multifamily sector of the housing market."

Mrs. Hills said the singlefamily sector of the housing market is well on its way to recovery but the multifamily sector still needs help.

Montclair CofC reorganizes into four major task forces

The Montclair Chamber of Commerce, under the theme "People Plus Pride Equals Progress," has organized a new four-pronged system of focusing on chamber and community affairs.

"The board of directors is anxious to involve all chamber members in the new modified organizational structure," said Joe Pugh, president of the chamber.

The structure calls for four major councils — commercial-industrial development; governmental affairs; chamber-community promotion; and chamber operational review.

They will collect ideas and formulate action projects, determine manpower and budget requirements for projects and recommend projects and policy decisions to the chamber board of directors," according to chamber Manager Bob Keenan.

Each council will have continuing and temporary task forces. Cards have been sent to the approximately 150 members of the chamber to determine the areas of interest in task force activity.

Dennis Silletto of University Mazda will chair the commercial-industrial development council while Wallace Paprocki, manager of J.C. Penney's, has charge of the governmental affairs council.

The chamber-community promotion council will be headed by Jim Bookhout, manager and vice president of Santa Fe Federal Savings and Loan Association; and Andy Muscarello, equipment maintenance supervisor for General Telephone Co., chairs the chamber operational review council.

The commercial-industrial development council will "plan and implement business and industrial development projects to increase employment and total business activity in Montclair," Keenan said.

"It seeks to mold a more favorable climate where enterprise can prosper and promote housing, construction, transportation, agriculture and represent such interests where fitting on matters of planning and zoning."

The governmental affairs council will maintain communication and liaison with local, county, state and federal agencies and representatives on legislative issues involving the business community. Public information programs will be utilized to disseminate information on the legislative process and issues.

Public relations is the emphasis and the chamber and community promotion council. Among the programs offered will be publications, mixers, forums, welcoming ceremonies and publicity.

The chamber operational review will "oversee the internal operations of the chamber; evaluate membership income and the investment schedule and develop orientation programs for new members, officers and directors.

Montclair businesses interested in participating in the new structure should contact the chamber office, 624-1280.

Owls earn 'moral victory'

Fullerton wins game, 18-14

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — If there's such a thing in sports as a moral victory, then Citrus College's football squad surely captured one Friday night here at Glover Stadium. The underdog Owls gave top-rated Fullerton JC all the Orange County team could handle in the 1976 grid opener for both schools, but the Hornets, thanks to three key fumble recoveries, prevailed in the exciting contest, 18-14.

The game, played before 1,100 drenched football fanatics in weather which at times resembled monsoon season in Saigon, was surprisingly well-played.

However, in the final analysis the Owls could not overcome three lost fumbles to the opportunistic Fullerton defense in the second half.

Citrus, which held a 14-6 lead at halftime, totally dominated the final stats. The Owls had 17 first downs to Fullerton's 11, and led in total yardage 358-249.

Coach John Strycula unveiled his new offensive backfield of quarterback Dale Bunn and scatbacks Raymond Butler and Obie Graves, and it was a most impressive season debut for the trio, marred only by the elusiveness of the pigskin in the damp weather.

Bunn, a Monrovia High product, passed for 184 yards despite the elements, connecting on 12 of 25 aerials. Several others were dropped by potential receivers. In contrast, Fullerton's highly-touted signal caller Morris Bledsoe hit on only nine of 21 for 121 yards.

But it was Bledsoe and the Hornets who came up with the offensive play of the night in the third quarter to turn the contest around.

The Owls, trying to protect their 14-6 advantage on the slippery turf, appeared to have a drive going on their second possession of the third stanza. However, on a first-down play at the Citrus 37, QB Bunn lost the handle on the ball on the snap, the loose pigskin finally being recovered after a mad scramble by Hornet defensive end Eric Jenican at the 33.

From there it took Fullerton only one play to get back in the game, as Bledsoe wound up and hit flanker Mike Coleman in the end zone with a 33-yard scoring strike.

Even so, it looked like the Owls were in good shape as a Bledsoe aerial attempt for a game-tying two-point PAT misfired, leaving the score 14-12 Citrus.

However, another fumble later in the quarter, this one by running back Graves, was again corralled by the Hornet defense in Owl territory, this time at the 31.

From there Fullerton scored the game-winning TD in five plays. Key play in the series was a 20-yard pass from Bledsoe to Ron Cassidy, moving the ball to the Owl 11.

Fullerton punched across the TD on Rocy Liapis' one-yard plunge with 1:23 remaining in the third quarter.

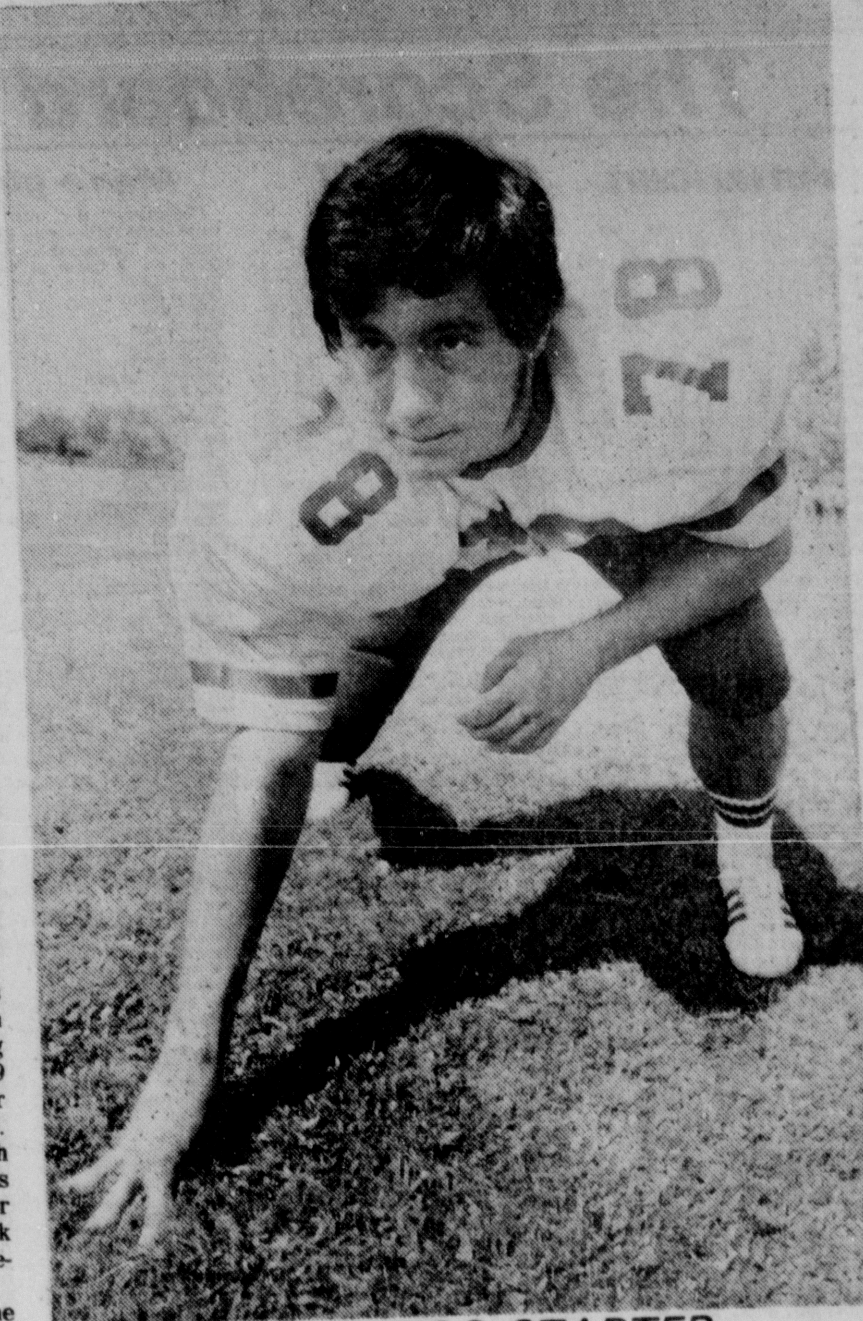

The Owls continued to smell an upset in the fourth quarter, only to be repulsed on one drive when Fullerton stopped the Owls on its 13.

Another scoring attempt by Citrus midway through the final period died when Butler fumbled after a long run on the Hornets' three-yard line. And yet another potential Owl score later in the period fizzled when Graves' halfback pass was intercepted in the end zone by Fullerton defensive back Todd Kischner.

Graves on the game led all rushers with an impressive 132-yard total on 23 carries. Fullerton's bull-strong fullback Monty Bullerick carried 29 times for 97 yards to account for almost all the Hornet ground game.

The first two Owl scores both came in the second quarter, as Butler dived over from the one for the initial Citrus TD and came back later in the period to receive a five-yard scoring strike from Bunn.

The initial Hornet score in the game was on a nice 13-yard run by Bullerick. That score had been set up by a 20-yard punt return by Dave Coleman and a 15-yard personal foul infraction on the Owls on the same play.

BRONCO STARTER

John Medlin, a Diamond Bar resident who went to Ganesha High, will start at defensive tackle for Cal Poly tonight in the Broncos' 1976 grid opener against Cal State Fullerton. Game time will be 7:30 at Poly's Kellogg Field.

Evert, Goolagong in summer rerun

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Chris Evert, winning her 100th straight match on clay, and Evonne Goolagong, walking the familiar tight rope, persevered through a 5-hour, 44-minute rain delay Friday and set up another summer rerun for the women's tennis championship in the U.S. Open.

The top-seeded Miss Evert started at 17 minutes before noon and finished at 6:35 in scoring a 6-3, 6-1 victory over scrappy Mima Jausovec of Yugoslavia. They cooled their heels after a heavy rainstorm struck the West Side Tennis Club courts with the score 5-2 for Evert in the opening set.

The 25-year-old Miss Goolagong, taking center stage under the lights after a half of an original crowd of 15,428 had gone home, started slowly but finished strong in beating Australian teammate, 20-year-old Diane Fromholtz, 7-6, 6-0.

These two young princesses of tennis will meet for the 29th time Saturday afternoon following the men's best-of-five set semifinals.

In the opening match, top-seeded Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., will play Guillermo Vilas, No. 3, of Argentina, to be followed by a repeat of the Wimbledon final, matching Swede Bjorn Borg, seeded No. 2, and the maverick Illie Nastase, No. 5. Borg won the English faceoff 6-4, 6-2, 9-7.

Miss Evert was poised, patient and at times sensational against the ball-hawking, unseeded Yugoslavian. Miss Goolagong, as usual, was erratic, brilliant and mystifying.

Forced into a best-of-12 point tiebreaker in the opening set after a leisurely performance, Miss Goolagong, the blythe spirit, played crushing tennis in sweeping through the second set, losing less than 10 points.

Chris and Evonne have met 28 times, 20 times in a championship final, since both of them emerged as the bright new faces of women's tennis in 1971—Goolagong, as the Wimbledon winner at 19, and Evert as the youngest semifinalist in U.S. history at 16.

In this exciting series, Chris, the icy girl with the computer game, has won 17 times and lost 11. This year she has an edge of 4-2, including a three-set win in Wimbledon with an 8-6 final set.

"I always have a problem with Evonne," Chris said afterward. "I think this is the most important match ever as far as our rivalry is concerned."

Evonne beat Chris twice on the women's tour and beat out the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., miss for individual honors in that week-to-week cross country competition.

After her match, Chris was presented with a large cake with green icing inscribed, "Congratulations, Chris. 100."

This was in celebration of her 100th consecutive triumph on the clay surface, dating back to her loss in Cincinnati to Miss Goolagong in 1973.

Ryan fans 18 batters

CHICAGO (AP) — "I knew I had it going, but I didn't realize I had that many strikeouts," said Nolan Ryan Friday night after he posted 18 strikeouts and hurled the California Angels to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

The 18 strikeouts for Ryan fell one short of the major league record which he shares with National League pitchers Steve Carlton and Tom Seaver.

"My curve was really working in the early innings, but then I got tired and had to go to my fastball," said Ryan, who boosted his record to 13-17.

The 18 strikeouts gave him 278 this season and placed the 29-year-old right-hander on the threshold of becoming the first pitcher in history to top the 300 strikeout level four times in his career.

"I haven't done much this year, so if I do get 300 strikeouts that would be the highlight of my season," said Ryan.

Ryan's big test came in the eighth inning when the White Sox loaded the bases on two of the nine walks Ryan issued and an error. He struck out Ralph Garr and Bill Stein to end the inning and then struck out the side in the ninth.

Bruce Bochte provided Ryan with the offensive punch he needed. Bochte homered in the second and then broke up a 2-2 tie with a run-scoring double in the sixth.

The victory was the ninth in the last 12 games for the Angels with Bart Johnson, 9-14, taking the loss.

The 18 strikeouts was his season high and one less than his major league record which he shares with Tom Seaver of the New York Mets and Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies. Ryan struck out the last five batters he faced.

Trojans face Missouri

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

LOS ANGELES — USC unveils its 1976 team and coach tonight.

The Trojans, 8-4 last year, take on Missouri, 6-5, at 7:30 p.m. in the Coliseum. For the first time in 16 years someone other than John McKay will be at the helm.

When McKay succumbed to the lure of the NFL, Troy reciprocated by bringing John Robinson back to Southern Cal where he had served as one of McKay's assistants from 1972-'74.

Robinson spent 1975 as backfield coach with the NFL Oakland Raiders. He has made some changes in Southern Cal's offense which he feels will open up the attack by passing more to the backs and passing more period.

With Ricky Bell and company returning in the backfield, USC is ranked eighth by both wire services in the preseason poll.

Missouri is 18th in one poll and unranked by the other.

It'll be the first meeting of the two teams in 52 years. The last time they played was Christmas Day, 1924, when the Trojans won, 20-7, after a scoreless first half.

The Tigers last played in the Coliseum in 1966. They lost that one to UCLA and Gary Beban, 24-15, in a nationally televised game.

Biggest question mark for Southern Cal tonight will be quarterback Vince Evans. Evans, a fine runner at 6-2, 208, was an ineffective passer last year.

But one of Robinson's first moves was to hire Paul Hackett from Cal to coach the quarterbacks and receivers.

The 29-year-old Hackett is credited with developing Steve Bartkowski and Joe Roth at Cal and producing one of the nation's most potent aerial attacks.

Evans obviously had the arm last year. But accuracy and the knowledge of when to throw, where to throw and when not to put the ball up are the things Hackett has been helping Evans with. Evans threw 150 passes a day this summer.

Missouri has an established passer in quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz. The 6-2, 210-pound senior has been a starter since midway through his sophomore year.

His totals the last two years are 183 completions in 388 attempts (47.2 percent) for 2,620 yards and 17 touchdowns with 17 interceptions.

Evans' inglorious statistics have been widely publicized. But in case you missed or forgot them here they are once again: 35 completions in 112 attempts (31 percent) for 695 yards, three touchdowns and nine interceptions.

The Trojans offense will be without strongside tackle Marvin Powell (6-5, 265), who has a strained knee, and guard Pat Powell (6-6-252).

Their replacements are John Schuhmacher, a 6-5, 275-pound junior and freshman Brad Budde (6-6, 250). Gary Bethel (6-4, 235) will be the center. He has been dueling 6-3, 235 Gene Lawryk.

Robinson is more concerned with the way his team will perform than anything else.

"We must play well ourselves, that's the first consideration," said Robinson. "Secondly we must stop or slow down Missouri's number one weapon, Steve Pisarkiewicz."

For once USC would like to emulate UCLA. The Trojans will be hard pressed to equal the Bruins' opening night act.

his three seasons at Poly.

Fullerton, a former California Collegiate Athletic Association rival, should present Vinci's Broncos a good test for an opening game.

The Titans, who now compete in the tough Pacific Coast Athletic Association, are hoping to rebound from a 2-9 season for second-year Coach Jim Colletto, a former UCLA Rose Bowl star.

Fullerton won the first three games in the series but Poly has taken the last three to pull even. The Broncos enjoyed a 33-21 victory last year when quarterback Leo Costa passed for 187 yards and four touchdowns.

Costa is a big reason why Vinci enters the season feeling ready.

This is the first time in eight years Vinci opens a new campaign with his starting quarterback back.

"Leo is like another coach on our staff because he has the ability to completely understand what is going on in the game. His play was the highlight of our camp."

Poly figured on opening tonight's game with eight returning starters from a 6-4-1 team but that figure has to be reduced by one because of an ankle injury suffered by senior tackle Bobby Costeldia, a product of Garey High.

Dean Ingram, a big (6-4, 240) freshman from Los Angeles, will probably start in Costeldia's spot.

Costa will open with a backfield consisting of tailback Ron Jones and fullback Brent Partridge. The prime receivers will be split end Teddy Myles, flanker Lonnie Carr and tight end Jay Johnson.

Opening on the offensive line will be center Larz Malony (6-0, 215), tackle Dan Mitchell (6-5, 270) and guards Bill Henry (6-3, 240) and David Mackley (6-2, 221).

"We're going to play a wide open offense, that's for sure," Vinci said. "It should be an offense that creates excitement."

Poly graduated some key people on defense but cornerback Jim Poettgen, who earned honorable mention status last year on the AP All-American team, is back along with six other starters.

The starting line will consist of ends Max Weischedel and Bill Griffith, tackles John Medlin — a Ganesha High product — and Bryan Chandler plus middle guard Ben Merchant.

Rick Kluck and Mike Mayoral will open at the linebacking spots while Poettgen, Terry Smith, Mike Frierson and sophomore Doug Hughes of Garey High will be in the backfield.

"We have good speed on defense," says defensive coordinator Mike Steinhour. "We have excellent senior leaders, with depth supplied by experienced juniors and talented newcomers."

Fullerton will have experience in the backfield with quarterback Steve Martindale, a two-year starter, and fullback Cecil Gordon, last year's top rusher.

Bruce Abraham, a junior from Claremont High, will be starting at tight end for the Titans.

"There's no question we're much better this year talent-wise, position by position," Colletto said about the Titans. "We're looking forward to this game."

MSAC hosts Rio Hondo

Eaton to unveil new formation tonight

By JIM McCONNELL
PB Staff Writer

Many of the numerous mysteries surrounding the 1976 edition of the Mt. San Antonio College football squad should be solved tonight as the Mounties open the campaign at home vs. Rio Hondo.

The two teams will clash at 7:30 p.m. at MSAC's spacious Memorial Stadium.

MSAC suffered through a miserable 1-9 season last year so head coach Mal Eaton has done the logical. The Mountie skipper has revamped the MSAC offense, installing a Veer-T attack, and also has done some heavy recruiting in an effort to produce the first winning season in ten years at the Walnut campus.

Top plum of Eaton's recruiting drive appears to be former South Hills High star Brian Bethke.

Bethke, who will start at quarterback for the Mounties this evening, played his freshman year at UN-Las Vegas last season and saw extensive action on the Rebel varsity squad.

Eaton hopes that Bethke, a proven winner, is just the man to direct the Mounties new Veer-T offense.

Starting in the backfield with Bethke will be Los Altos High product Mike Hill. Hill played in the shadow of tailback Binky Benton last year but has the potential to make Mountie fans forget about at least some of Benton's two-year rushing heroics.

Joining Bethke and Hill in the MSAC backfield will be Garey High alumnus Dana Hutchinson. Like Bethke, Hutchinson spent his freshman year at a four-year school (Cal Poly SLO) but has returned to the valley to suit up in Mountie maroon and white this fall.

The Mountie backfield trio are all rated excellent runners and should give Rio Hondo's defense a stern test.

Bethke also has a couple experienced hands at catching his aerials. Returning to the MSAC fold this fall are wide receiver Tom Peterssen (34 receptions for 320 yards in '75) and tightend Don Warren, a Royal Oak product who is both a fine passing target and blocker at 6-4 and 230 pounds.

Chauncey Abney, a freshman from L.A.'s Manuel Arts High, will start at the flanker spot.

Seven starters are back for MSAC on defense, a spot where the Mounties were burned many times last year. However, Eaton feels that the experience factor, even in a 1-9 season, will make his returning lettermen that much tougher.

Rio Hondo should prove a real test for Eaton's forces. The Roadrunners, 8-2 last year and champs of the Southern Cal Conference, were ranked eighth in the State JC preseason poll.

Coached by Marty Blackstone (45-15 career mark in six years as head coach) Rio Hondo will have the services of six returning all-conference picks this fall.

Probably the biggest question mark on the Roadrunner team this year is the offensive backfield, where only flanker Danny Carter and quarterback George Malhot, both part-time starters in '75, return. Malhot will fight it out with freshman standouts Kevin Hamilton of Santa Fe and Pete Janke of El Rancho for the QB duties.

While Blackstone will be experimenting with his offensive backfield personnel tonight, that group will have a fine offensive line to run behind, as four starters are back from last year.

The last time Rio Hondo and MSAC played was 1968, when the two squads battled to a 0-0 standoff. That year the Roadrunners went on to suffer through a 0-8-1 season, but since then they have been a consistent grid power.

For the Mounties, the trail since '68 was led the other way, to a string of sub-500 seasons.

However, Eaton has a saying to counter any negative thinking in the MSAC camp: "When how well or poorly you did yesterday still occupies your mind today, then you have truly wasted today. We are looking forward to 1976."

It appears that Eaton has his players believing it; now all he and the team need is an impressive effort tonight and the long-suffering Mountie rooters will start "keeping the faith" as well.

Dark outlook for Vermeil

By Associated Press
Pity poor Dick Vermeil. He walks away from a bed of roses and right into a thicket of thorns.

Last January — New Year's Day, to be exact — he capped his college coaching career by guiding his UCLA Bruins to a stunning upset victory over Casey Woody Hayes' Ohio State Buckeyes.

Next January, he may well be back in the Rose Bowl — but most assuredly not as a coach. If he's there at all, it'll be to see how two fine football teams play the game, mainly Super Bowl XI.

He's gone from the glory days of UCLA to the glory days of the Philadelphia Eagles, one of the National Football League least-likely-to-succeed teams.

A lot of teams have gotten rich the past few years beating up on the pitiful Eagles, who haven't had a winning season since 1966. And unless something goes very wrong Sunday in Dallas, the talent-rich Cowboys, one of the entries in Super Bowl X last January, will administer another healthy thumping in the league's first weekend of regular-season play.

In Sunday's other games, it's Pittsburgh, the Super Bowl winner, at Oakland, Los Angeles at Atlanta, Baltimore at New England, Denver at Cincinnati, the New York Giants at Washington, Minnesota at New Orleans, St. Louis at Seattle, the New York Jets at Cleveland, San Diego at Kansas City, Detroit at Chicago, San Francisco at Green Bay and Tampa Bay at Houston. On Monday night it's Miami at Buffalo. The Eagles, 4-10 last year under Mike McCormack, lost all six of their preseason games, the longest losing streak Vermeil has ever suffered through on any coaching level. "I didn't expect to walk right into a winning situation," he said flippantly. "All the jobs with winners have been taken."

And among the biggest winners are the Cowboys. Vermeil, again grinning and bearing it, says it's tough to open against them "because they didn't graduate any seniors."

Nevertheless, Dallas Coach Tom Landry has made some major changes, partly out of necessity. Scott Laidlaw and Charles Young replace injured Robert Newhouse and Preston Pearson in the backfield and tight end Bill Joe DuPree starts in place of Jean Fugett, who played out his option and went to Washington.

While the Cowboys should have an easy opener, the Raiders won't. "This is the same Pittsburgh team, the same defense," says Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler. "They're the toughest. We know we'll have to beat them, maybe twice, to get to the Super Bowl."

In each of the past two seasons, the Steelers and Raiders have met for the American Conference title, with Pittsburgh beating them each time en route to Super Bowl triumphs. "There couldn't be a better test for us than playing them in Oakland," says Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Seventeen major college coaches are new on the job this season. Nine are in their first campaign as a head coach.

First big Saturday is rough

By the Associated Press
Thanks to the 11 o'clock schedule-maker, the first big Saturday of the season could easily turn out to be an early end to the unbeaten trail for some of the nation's big-name college football powers.

Thanks to UCLA, it ended two days earlier for Arizona State.

No fewer than seven members of The Associated Press Top Ten appear to have their work cut out for them in their opens today. Second-ranked Michigan is a heavy favorite at home against Wisconsin and defending two-time national champion Oklahoma, ranked fifth, rules likewise at Vanderbilt. But trouble could be brewing just about everywhere else.

Top-rated Nebraska plays a night game at improved Louisiana State, a team the Cornhuskers beat only 10-7 a year ago. And Michigan State visits fourth-ranked Ohio State for what looms as a real Big Ten donnybrook. It's Darryl Rogers' debut as Michigan State coach and the Spartans are saddled with a three-year NCAA probation for recruiting infractions before Rogers' arrival. One of those who turned them in was Ohio State's Woody Hayes, so look for some real fireworks.

Sixth-ranked Alabama faces Mississippi under the lights in Jackson and Bear Bryant is certain the Rebels were looking ahead when they were upset by Memphis State a week ago. Texas, No. 7, sends its potent but ailing offense against defensive power Boston College at Chestnut Hill, Mass., also at night.

Missouri, which upset Alabama on the road to get the 1975 campaign off to a memorable start, will try to ruin John Robinson's debut as coach of eighth-ranked Southern California in a night game at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Pitt, ranked ninth, is the oddsmakers' underdog against No. 11 Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind., an afternoon contest that will be beamed to much of the nation by ABC-TV. And a young Penn State team, ranked 10th, could be in for a long afternoon at home against explosive Stanford.

In an unusual Thursday night contest, 17th-ranked UCLA, the upset winner over Ohio State in the Rose Bowl last New Year's Day, pulled off another shocker, whipping third-ranked Arizona State 28-10 as quarterback Jeff Dankworth and halfback Theotis Brown ran for two touchdowns apiece and amassed 282 yards rushing between them.

Elsewhere Saturday, No. 12 Maryland entertains Richmond, Utah State meets No. 13 Arkansas in a night game at Little Rock, Virginia Tech is at No. 14 Texas A&M, No. 15 California at No. 16 Georgia, North Carolina vs. No. 18 Florida at night in Tampa, Washington State at No. 19 Kansas and No. 20 Miami of Ohio at Marshall.

While there undoubtedly will be some head-knocking between Michigan State and Ohio State, the real revenge battle takes place at Notre Dame, where the Fighting Irish will seek to atone for last year's 34-20 loss in which Pitt's Tony Dorsett rushed for an embarrassing 303 yards, most ever against Notre Dame.

"There'll be some people stinging each other in this game," says Pitt Coach Johnny Majors. "I'm sure Notre Dame will have a lot of revenge in their hearts, and there's no way our team will be taking the game lightly. I'm anticipating one of the toughest games we've ever been involved in."

Notre Dame will counter Pitt's explosive offense with a young but experienced defense led by ends Willie Fry and Ross Browner and cornerback Luther Bradley.

"Pitt has such a great offense that the tendency is to overlook the defense," says Coach Dan Devine. "But I can assure you that we are aware that Pitt not only has an excellent offense and a very strong defense, but a superb kicking game as well.

"When a team has the kind of speed in its running and passing attacks, when it plays a great team concept defense and when it has a dangerous kicking game as Pitt has, then you know there is a team that has all the elements to be one of the finest college teams in the country. And that's precisely what we will be facing."

Ohio State's Hayes now has two teams in the State of Michigan mad at him. He won't say much, if anything, about the Spartans and all he'll tell you about his Buckeyes is that "we'll be green, but we have a lot of good football players on hand and I feel this can be a fine team."

On the other hand, Michigan State's Rogers promises to "pass more than is customary in the Big Ten, but we won't be a pass-crazy team."

Finley may bat

OAKLAND (AP) — Charlie Finley, a designated hitter?

Oakland A's owner, Finley, in a statement released Friday by the team, said he was considering making himself the A's designated hitter.

"I'm in great shape. I have kept this way the past five years fighting with my players," said Finley, 58, in another obvious try at one-upmanship against Chicago White Sox owner Bill Veech.

The White Sox have activated coach Minnie Minoso and Finley said, "Since Bill Veech has seen fit to activate Minoso at 53, I certainly feel I can swing for the A's at 58."

The release, which referred to Finley as "hard-hitting," "dynamic" and "colorful," said the owner wanted to help the A's win the American League West title, and it concluded "he knows he can come to their aid because he is in better shape than most of the A's."

Groups to attend KLXA rally

Bus groups from Pomona are expected to attend the fall rally for Trinity Broadcasting Network's KLXA Friday at 6 p.m.

It marks the first such event for the Tustin-based all church television facility. The Rev. Betty Baxter and the Rev. Dwight Thompson will be the keynote speakers at the rally in the Anaheim Convention Center.

REV. DICK MILLS

Teachers will be installed

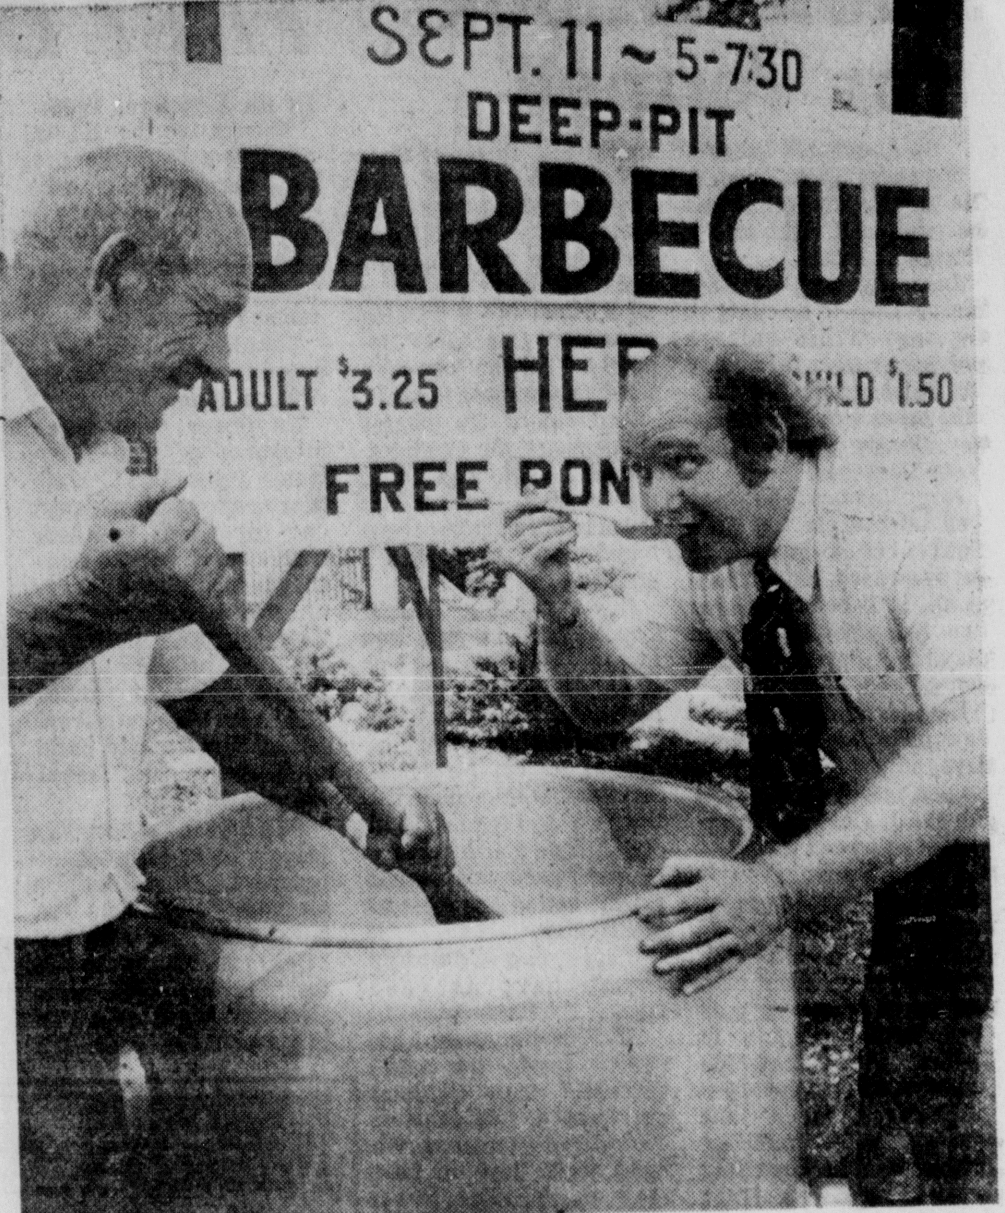

Sunday school teachers will be installed Sunday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church and School in Pomona during special services dedicated to education.

The 8 a.m. and 10:45 a.m. worship services will have them "Freedom To Grow." In addition to 13 Sunday school teachers, three parochial school teachers will also be installed.

David Hemme, Sunday school superintendent, will give a short address.

Immediately after the 8 a.m. service, a pantry shower will be held for the three new teachers, Mrs. Joyce Nagel, Miss Nina Plischke and Mrs. Judy Krueger.

School will open Monday with a special service at 8:45 a.m. Approximately 130 pupils have been enrolled.

BARBECUE PREPARATIONS — the United Methodist Church of La Glenn Hall, general chairman, left, and the Rev. Tom Taylor, test recipe for the annual barbecue at

Watson to guest speak

The Rev. Bernard Watson, assistant director of the David and Margaret Home in La Verne, will be the guest speaker Sunday at the 11 a.m. worship service of the Covenant United Methodist Church in Pomona.

His sermon topic will be "Like Water in a Dry Place."

The church's pastor, the Rev. Donald W. Coughenour, is on vacation.

Evangelist scheduled

The Rev. Dick Mills, evangelist, teacher and lecturer, will minister personally at the Christian Fellowship Center, Pomona, at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Mr. Mills is affiliated with Melodyland Christian Center in Anaheim. Drawing upon more than 1,500 memorized Bible verses, he quotes Scriptural promises, exhortations and encouragements to individuals.

Also taking part will be Greg and Tina who provide contemporary ministry in music. They are former USO and nightclub entertainers.

Adult choir will begin rehearsals

The adult choir of Trinity Lutheran Church of Pomona will begin rehearsals Wednesday night at 7:30 at the church.

Interested persons who would like to join are urged to attend.

The Rev. Maynard Saeger, pastor, will speak on the topic "Don't Be Afraid" at 10 a.m. Sunday and on "Pray to the Lord" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday. Holy Communion will be celebrated at both services.

Overtones back from Asia tour

After traveling more than 200,000 miles, The Overtones have returned to present home concerts Sunday at 6 and 8 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Pomona.

The visited Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong and the Philippines on their recent tour.

The Overtones, college-career people ranging in age from 18 to 25, are vocalists, instrumentalists and crew members. They present songs from their recent album and have a repertoire of more than 60 numbers.

The ministry of The Overtones has extended to Oahu State Prison, St. Anne's Catholic Church, Ala Moana Shopping Center in Hawaii, Yokota Air Force Base in Japan, Youth for Christ Korean Conferences in Pusan, Korea, South Korean Army with Gen. Kim, Yong Hyu, the Taipei City Hall and the Hay Ling Chau Drug Addict Center in Hong Kong.

For their home performances Sunday, The Overtones will have with them Danny Ee, executive director of Youth For Christ of Asia. Ee traveled with them as a special guest. Paul Johnson, arranger, will also be present.

The recent addition of synthesizer and string ensemble to the brass, woodwinds and percussion expands group performances, as do lighting and choreography.

Miss E. Martene Craig, minister of music, will direct.

Church moves

Metropolitan Community Church of Pomona has moved to 233 Pomona Mall East. The congregation formerly met at the YMCA.

The new location is viewed as an interim worship site, but leaders said it is felt that having a facility available at all times will allow the congregation to grow and begin to provide some basic services to the community.

The congregation is affiliated with the Universal Fellowship of Metropolitan Community Churches, founded in 1968 by the Rev. Troy Perry, author of "The Lord Is My Shepherd, and He Knows I'm Gay."

Mr. Perry founded the church to provide a worship experience for all without regard to sexual orientation.

A dedication service will be held at the new location Sept. 26 at 7 p.m. The Rev. Robert Sirico, interim pastor, will speak.

Rev. Lenox will speak

The Rev. G. Merrill Church. Mr. Lenox is currently minister of administration for the Claremont United Methodist Church.

Lenox will be the guest speaker at the 10:40 a.m. Sunday service of the Montclair Christian

Recording artist slated at Methodist barbecue

Recording artist Bob Morley will be the featured entertainer at the 15th annual deep-pit barbecue of the United Methodist Church of La Verne today from 5 to 7:30 p.m. on the church grounds.

Tickets at $3.25 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 will be available at the barbecue, according to Glenn Hall, general chairman.

Morley, a professional entertainer and ordained minister in the United Methodist church, appears frequently in supper clubs, piano bars and restaurants as well as at college and high school campuses and churches.

Also entertaining will be

Steve Harris, minister of youth, young adults and contemporary music at the La Verne church and creator of the satire "The Church Game" which he will perform. Earl O'Brien, Canadian accordionist, also will appear.

All children attending the barbecue will be offered free pony wagon rides.

Nearly 100 church members are involved in preparations for the annual community-wide event.

The barbecue launches the fall schedule of activities of the congregation.

Church school classes for all ages will begin at 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

A coffee fellowship will follow the 11 a.m. worship service. The Rev. J. Thomas Taylor will preach on "Measuring Up, A Worthy Vacation for Life."

A praise, prayer and share service will begin at 7:30 p.m., following the junior high and senior high fellowships which meet regularly from 5 to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

Former exec to speak

Jack Warford, former United Church of Christ executive, will be speaker at "mini-courses" being offered this Sunday and the following Sunday at 9:40 a.m. at the First Baptist Church of Claremont.

Warford, a retired archaeologist, was formerly head of the School of Religion at the University of Montana. He will talk on "Biblical Archaeology" and "The Impact of Geography and History on Religion."

The congregation will hold a homemade ice cream social in the Fellowship Hall at 5 p.m.

$10,000 fire damages hotel

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An early morning fire has caused an estimated $10,000 damage at the downtown El Dorado Hotel. But fire officials say residents were saved from harm in the third floor blaze Wednesday because of city fire and safety ordinances which require the enclosure of stairwells and installation of fire resistant doors. Officials said careless smoking was responsible for the blaze.

Upland Brethren in Christ

The Men's Fellowship of the Upland Brethren in Christ Church has scheduled a breakfast at 7:30 a.m. Sunday in the fellowship hall.

Tickets may be purchased for $1 at the door.

The program will be presented by Abner Haldeman, former Upland mayor and director of the "Here's Life America" project. He will be assisted by Bob Dexton, a member of the local committee for the mission project. The public is welcome.

On Sept. 30, Mrs. Joyce Landorf will be the speaker at the fellowship's annual Ladies Night dinner.

Good Shepherd Lutheran

The Rev. Ekkehard Muehlenberg will be the guest speaker at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Claremont, Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

He is professor of church history at the Claremont School of Theology and director of cantenae of patristic biblical interpretation at the Institute for Antiquity of Christianity at Claremont Graduate School.

In 1975 he was visiting professor at the University of Mainz, Germany.

Gerald Sorrensen will serve as lector and Don Mai will give the children's talk.

Special music for the day will be presented by the Don Mai family.

A Bible study group will begin studying Philippians Tuesday, at 9:30 a.m. Mrs. Wayne Fitch will lead the 10-week study.

Women of the church will hold their quarterly meeting Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Faith Missionary Church

A new color film entitled "Corrie: Behind the Scenes with the Hiding Place" will be shown at 8:15 and 10:30 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 19, at the Faith Missionary Church in Pomona.

Filmed in Holland, the story is about a Jewish family's experiences during World War II, hiding from the Gestapo and later in a concentration camp.

There will be no admission charge.

Peace Lutheran Church

"Rally Day" will be held Sunday at the 9 a.m. worship service at the Peace Lutheran Church in Pomona.

The service will emphasize Sunday school, education and evangelism.

"Eat, Drink and Be Merry" will be the sermon topic for the Rev. Ed Krueger, pastor.

Christ Lutheran Church

Class promotion, recognition of extra-curricular work and new materials will be featured at the Parish School Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at Christ Lutheran Church in Chino.

The pastor's Bible forum is in the process of a comparative study of world religions.

The Rev. A.L. Plueger, pastor, will begin a series of four messages at the 8:15 and 10:45 a.m. services Sunday. His first topic will be "The Powerlessness of Positive Thinking."

Mt. Zion Missionary

The 26th annual Women's Day programs will be presented Sunday at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. at the Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Pomona.

The morning speaker will be the Rev. Lucille Woods of Los Angeles. Delores Landrum of Santa Ana will speak during the afternoon meeting.

"Women Dedicated to the Service of Christ" is the theme for the program.

First Baptist, Chino

First Baptist Church of Chino will hold its annual Sunday School-Church Picnic today at 11 a.m. at Upland Memorial Park.

A potluck dinner will kick off the event. Families are asked to bring a main dish or salad and their own tableware. Contests with ribbons as prizes will include a pie baking contest, ice cream making and pie eating, besides games and races.

The Rev. Robert Wilson, pastor, will discuss "The Mystery Revealed" at Sunday's 11 a.m. worship service. For the 6 p.m. fellowship hour, he will speak on "Robbing God." The evening service will begin with the service of Baptism and "love loaves" will be distributed.

Sunday school will be held at 9:30 a.m. and the Board of Christian Education will meet at 4:30 p.m.

Chino United Methodist

Church school classes will begin a new year Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at Chino United Methodist Church.

Emphasis will be on "A New Start." Teachers will be introducing new study material.

The Rev. Stanley Creighton, pastor, will discuss "Letting Go" at the 10:45 a.m. worship service Sunday. The chancel choir will assist in the service, with Mrs. Jeanette Harris directing.

First Assembly of God

Miss Lillie Knauls, television and recording vocalist, will be a guest at the 6 p.m. service Sunday at the First Assembly of God Church in Pomona.

She is a former member of the Edwin Hawkins Singers. She has traveled extensively in the United States and Europe.

Currently she hosts a radio program in San Jose called "Gospels According to Lillie," heard Sundays at 6:30 a.m. and 10:30 p.m.

Towne Avenue Nazarene

"Sharing the Good Life with Others" will be the theme the next two months at the Towne Avenue Church of the Nazarene in Pomona.

Sunday school will start at 9:45 a.m. Sunday under the direction of Supt. Gary Barlow. A new mystery guest will be revealed.

The Rev. Clyde W. Rather, minister, will speak at the 10:30 a.m. service on the "Unbeatable Game."

Rest home services will be held at 3 and 4 p.m.

Youth meetings will be held at 6 p.m. and "Victory Through Christ" will be the minister's subject at the 7 p.m. service.

Temple Beth Ami

Temple Beth Ami, West Covina, will hold an open house brunch from 9:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday.

The occasion will offer an opportunity to register for the New Year and to visit the educational, religious, social and recreational facilities of the temple. Leaders will be on hand to explain programs offered for all age groups.

The Religious School starts Monday (Hebrew school) and next Sunday (Sunday school). A new program will be offered in the Religious School on Sundays, including youth choir, arts and crafts, music, dancing, drama, Israeli history, cooking and travel.

All interested families are invited to attend the courtesy brunch and visit the temple. Services are held Fridays at 8:15 p.m. and Saturdays at 9:30 a.m.

Further information can be obtained at (213) 331-0515.

Temple Shalom, Ontario

"A Study of the Church's Educational Ministry" is a lecture-film-discussion series, which reviews the church's past, where the churches are today, and what they may become as a Christian-learning and practicing community.

The Rev. James W. Dallas will preach at the 9:15 and 11:05 a.m. services.

Baptistry on wheels

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Officially it's the Prisoners' Baptistry on Wheels. In irreverent circles they call it the Holy Roller.

Whatever the name, the portable, total-immersion tank testifies that the rising popularity of evangelical religion reaches behind prison walls.

Every prison has its chaplain. But relatively few are equipped to minister to fundamentalists who believe proper baptism requires more than a dampening of the head.

The Rev. Robert Horn, administrator of chaplaincy services for the Illinois Department of Corrections, has had a flood of requests for that rite.

Just two of the state's nine adult institutions — the oldest and the newest — came with tanks as original equipment. Some prisoners have been forced to use whirlpool baths or settle for sprinklings in the search for salvation.

Others have been taken to bathtubs in town. None of the solutions is satisfactory.

The American Rehabilitation Ministry, a nondenominational mission based in Joplin, Mo., says it has the answer to their prayers. Directed by the Rev. Joseph Garman, it came up with the Baptistry on Wheels, a tank on a trailer.

It's a fiberglass and steel affair that can be towed from prison to prison but is light enough for one person to wheel around. The Rev. Mr. Garman has three of the tanks and five more are being built.

The baptistry includes a stairway leading to a platform, the tub and a rendering of Jesus in the River Jordan.

Last year the traveling minister was called to 38 states for visits to prisons. He baptised 197 felons.

In an interview, the Rev. Mr. Horn explained the growing demand for immersion: "I would say that over the whole country prison residents are finding that religion is answering their questions about life. Probably the trend is that fundamental groups are making more impact than generally liberal churches. It's a reflection of what's happening outside."

He pointed out, too, that the prisoners have plenty of time to reflect on their faith behind bars.

To the Rev. Mr. Garman, the baptistry effort is a sign of things to come. "It's taken us this long to realize that prisons are one of the greatest mission fields in the world," he said.

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Sunday, Sept. 12, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Treat your resources with proper respect today or else you may incur some losses you could have avoided.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could get opposition from quarters today you'd least expect. Be very diplomatic in your one-to-one relationships.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Problems you'll have to contend with today are apt to be self-inflicted. Be mindful of your own thumb before swinging the hammer.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Avoid friends today who get uptight over insignificant issues. There's one pal in particular who could ruin your day.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You may be tempted today to take on a project that is far beyond your scope. Assess your possibilities carefully before leaping in.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Someone whom you may cross paths with today has it in for you and is just waiting for you to say the wrong thing. Weigh your words.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not likely to be one of your better days for putting business deals together. Watch your step!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually you have your head on straight, but today you could make judgments that might prove costly. Sleep on your decisions.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be safety-minded while working today, especially if performing a distasteful task. Also — keep a close eye on your helpers.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your friends won't appreciate you too much today if you try to manage their affairs. Don't butt in where you're not invited.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) There could be more family discord today than need be. The source of the trouble, unfortunately, may be traceable to you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's not very becoming nor does it do much to improve your image to blame others for your mistakes. Admit it if you're wrong.

Your Birthday, Sept. 12, 1976

If your selection of associates and companions is wise, this year will be a fruitful one for you. If your choices are poor you might create some problems for yourself.

Milk reduces risk of cancer?

COLD SPRING HARBOR, N.Y. (AP) — Drinking two glasses of milk a day apparently cuts the risk of getting stomach cancer, at least among Japanese, says a researcher from Tokyo.

It is one more bit of evidence for the influence of ordinary foods in either reducing or increasing the chances of developing cancers.

Japan long had a high rate of stomach cancer. But the death rate from it has dropped about one-third since 1955 after a change, beginning in 1949, to higher consumption of milk and milk products, and other Western-type food, said Dr. Takeshi Hirayama of the National Cancer Center Research Institute in Tokyo.

Consumption of milk and milk products increased by 23 times from 1949 to 1973, he told a Conference on Origins of Cancer at the Cold Spring Harbor Laboratory.

Meat consumption rose 13.7 per cent, eggs by 12.9, oil by 7.8, and fruits 6.6 per cent, with not much change in consumption of fish, vegetables and rice, Hirayama said.

A series of studies of 265,000 adults "clearly showed a significantly lower risk of stomach cancer in drinkers of two glasses of milk daily. The risk was lowest in non-smokers drinking two glasses of milk daily."

Some heart specialists advise drinking skim rather than whole milk as one part of a diet aimed at lowering the risk of atherosclerosis, the artery disease underlying heart attacks.

On an opposite side of the coin, an Australian scientist said "evidence is accumulating to suggest a relationship between dietary fat perhaps calorie excess and endometrial cancer," the endometrium being the lining of the uterus.

Dr. B. K. Armstrong, of the University of Western Australia, said this relationship likely depends upon an effect of dietary fat upon production of estrogen, the female sex hormone. Estrogens themselves may be directly able to cause cancer, or may produce an environment favorable to the effect of other cancer-causing agents, he said.

"Epidemiology has contributed to the belief that diet may be a major factor influencing the incidence of some human cancers," Armstrong said.

Some studies have involved habitual diets in different countries and incidence of cancer, and others the changes in cancer incidence and lifestyle after people migrated to another country.

Congress costs billion dollars

NEW YORK (AP) — A new study shows that Congress spent nearly $1 billion on itself in the last fiscal year, almost triple what it spent in 1970 and more than five times what it spent in 1960.

The study was developed by the Tax Foundation, Inc., a nonprofit research organization. In a report released this week, the foundation said most of the spending increase was due to "the substantial growth of legislative branch employment as well as significant increases in salaries and other costs."

The foundation said that appropriations for the Senate, the House and their joint activities totaled $426.3 million in fiscal 1976. The sum covers everything from stationery to salaries.

Appropriations for legislative agencies set up by Congress — from the Government Printing Office to the U.S. Botanic Garden — were $498.3 million.

The total congressional expenditure of nearly $925 million works out to about $4.30 for every man, woman and child in the country.

The foundation said the spending level is going to rise still further. "The operating costs of the legislative branch ... are certain within a year or two to reach an annual level of $1 billion or more," the group said.

It also noted that Congress "determines its own budget which, under law, must be included in the President's budget submission exactly as proposed. It makes its own rules, determines its own staff and salary levels, provides itself allowances and prerequisites."

"Beyond this, each house makes these determinations for itself. When the annual legislative appropriation bill is acted upon, the House passes only upon its own funds and the Senate later adds in appropriations for its operations and seldom, if ever, does either body challenge the operations of the other."

The size of Congress' budget is small compared to some items. It is less than 1 per cent of the defense budget, for example, and only about one-fourth of 1 per cent of the total U.S. budget.

But the increase in Congress' spending on itself is bigger than either the boost in the overall federal budget or the rise in the Consumer Price Index.

From 1960 to 1976, the budget for the legislative branch increased 441 per cent, the overall federal budget grew 305 per cent and the Consumer Price Index went up about 93 per cent. From 1970 to 1976 alone, Congress' budget increased 168 per cent; the total U.S. budget went up 90 per cent, and the CPI rose by 47 per cent.

A small part of the spending increase is due to the creation of new agencies since 1970. A more important factor is the growth in the congressional payroll. More than half of congressional operating costs in fiscal 1976 were for salaries and related expenses for members of Congress and their staffs and leadership offices.

The foundation said that the number of legislative branch employees has risen 22 per cent since 1970. The congressional staff alone has grown 44 per cent since 1970. The total civilian labor force grew 12 per cent in the same period and the number of people employed rose 8.8 per cent.

Members of Congress have gotten three pay boosts since 1960 and now earn $44,625 a year, plus allowances. The House and the Senate voted recently to exclude members of Congress from an automatic, cost of living pay raise due Oct. 1 to all federal Civil Service employees. The increase would have boosted salaries for representatives and senators to $46,750.

Congressional staff salaries vary, but the foundation says levels "are high by almost any standard." It said a report issued in July 1975 estimated the average income of Senate employees at about $15,000 and the average income of House employees at $14,000. That compared with a national per capita average income of just over $5,000.

A supplemental pay increase passed last October accounted for $4.7 million of the appropriations for operations of the Senate; $5 million of the appropriations for the House; $158,000 of the appropriations for joint activities and $8.6 million for appropriations of legislative branch agencies.

Here is a rundown of the estimated 1976 and 1970 expenditures for Congressional agencies (not counting the supplemental increase):

—Architect of the Capitol, in charge of the Capitol building and grounds and the operation of the Senate restaurant: $74.5 million in 1976; $24.4 million in 1970.

—U.S. Botanic Garden, collects and grows plants for display and congressional offices: $1.2 million in 1976; $599,800 in 1970.

—General Accounting Office, helps Congress in connection with legal, accounting, auditing and claims settlement roles and oversees campaign spending: $137.2 million in 1976; $63.5 million in 1970.

—Government Printing Office, prints and sells government publications: $147 million in 1976; $40 million in 1970.

—Library of Congress, acquires and catalogues books, provides reference services and is responsible for copywriting: $116.8 million in 1976; $43.9 million in 1970.

—Cost Accounting Standards Board, draws up cost accounting standards for federal contractors: $1.6 million in 1976; didn't exist in 1970.

—Office of Technology Assessment, determines impact of technological developments: $6.5 million in 1976; didn't exist in 1970.

—Congressional Budget Office, assists economic committees with respect to the budget and revenues: $4.7 million in 1976; didn't exist in 1970.

PUBLIC NOTICE

ORDINANCE NO. 301
AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WALNUT SUSPENDING AND PROHIBITING THE PROCESSING, HEARING AND GRANTING OF ZONE CHANGES, CONDITIONAL USE PERMITS, VARIANCES AND SUBDIVISIONS IN ALL RESIDENTIALLY ZONED PROPERTY IN THE CITY OF WALNUT, AND DECLARING SAME AS INTERIM ORDINANCE, AND THAT IT SHALL TAKE EFFECT IMMEDIATELY.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF WALNUT DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Suspension and Prohibition. Notwithstanding the provisions of Title 17 of the Walnut Municipal Code, Planning and Zoning, the processing and hearing of subdivisions, changes of zone, conditional use permits and variances and the granting thereof are hereby prohibited and suspended in all residentially zoned property in the City of Walnut.

Section 2. Urgency. The City Council hereby finds and determines and declares that the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, safety and welfare necessitates the enactment of this Ordinance. A declaration of the facts constituting this urgency is as follows:

1. That the City Council, Planning Commission and Planning Department are considering and studying and intends to expand on said study and consideration within a reasonable time of the updating of all elements of the General Plan of the City of Walnut.

2. That said study and consideration does vitally affect the intended present and future development of the City.

3. That the granting and approval of subdivisions, zone changes, conditional use permits and variances, prior to the completion of said study and consideration of the General Plan would seriously interfere with, and may be in conflict with the study, hearings and processes of the objectives of the General Plan, and the orderly review and updating thereof, all to the detriment of the public peace, health, and welfare of the citizens of Walnut and it is necessary that this Ordinance take effect immediately upon its adoption pursuant to the Planning and Zoning Law of the State of California.

Section 3. Severability. The City Council hereby declares that if would have passed this Ordinance sentence by sentence, paragraph by paragraph, and section by section, and does hereby declare that the provisions of this ordinance are severable, and if, for any reason, any sentence, paragraph, or section of this ordinance shall be held invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining parts of this Ordinance.

Section 4. Effective Immediately. By reason of the foregoing, this Ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its adoption. The City Clerk shall certify to the adoption of this Ordinance and shall cause same to be published as required by law. ADOPTED AND APPROVED this 25th day of August, 1976.

WILLIAM L. COTTEN
Mayor
I hereby certify that the foregoing Ordinance, being Ordinance No. 301 was approved and adopted as an urgency ordinance at a regular meeting of the Walnut City Council on August 25, 1976 by the following roll call vote:

Fateful

The 20th Congress held by the Soviet Communist party Feb. 14-25, 1956, was one of the most fateful gatherings of modern times. At the Moscow sessions, Nikita S. Khrushchev denounced Joseph Stalin, repudiated the cruelties of Stalinism and proclaimed a new policy of peaceful coexistence with the West.

Study in glass

(Story on pages 4-5)

Doc Peirsol It happened in Pomona

Things were really booming in Pomona in the year 1888 — and thank goodness there was a Pomona Progress reporter there to record them. Otherwise we Johnnie Come Latelies might never have known that:

"G.V.D. Brand's century plant has begun to blossom. It is now 40 feet high."

Not would we have been aware that in 1888 a campaign for better roads and highways in this area was being spearheaded by The Pomona Progress editor, who wrote:

"Some of the chuckholes on the road between Pomona and Ontario are dangerous to drivers and horses and should have speedy attention."

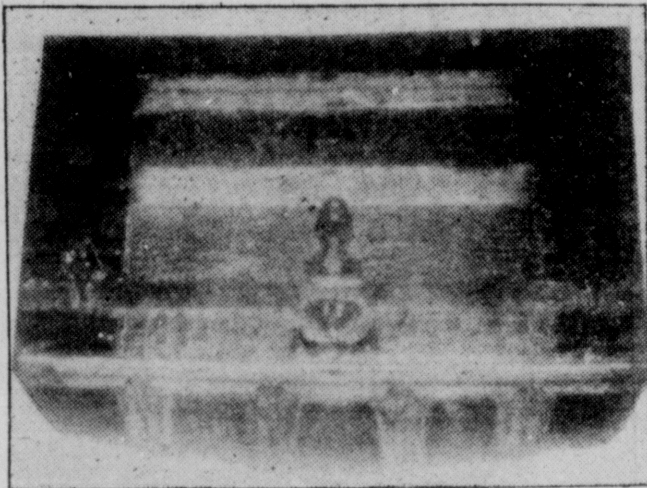

However, more important that August 1888, so far as Pomona's prosperity boom was concerned, was this story about a local industry that was getting widespread recognition.

"The Pomona Brownstone company has this week increased its force of laborers at work in getting stone from the quarry on the mountain side at the mouth of San Dimas canyon. The roadway up to the quarry has been finished so that teams and stone wagons now have easy access to the quarry. The workmen have begun operations on the upper part of the mountain and are now making another opening in the quarry. There, brownstone of a much better quality and hue has been found and there is reason to believe that very large blocks of stone can be quarried. The architects and builders in Los Angeles are delighted with the qualities of the Pomona brownstone and say that if large blocks of stone for the sills and arches of very large buildings can be found, the quarry will be a valuable one."

But perhaps the big news story of the year 1888 appeared in the Aug. 16 issue of The Pomona Progress where it was announced:

"Pomona will soon be equipped with a telephone system. The charter for setting up telephone poles and stringing the wires through the streets was granted by the city council yesterday afternoon. The central station will be located at Hamner's store. About 16 people have already agreed to put the telephone in their respective business places and residences."

A tin-covered traveling trunk

By DOROTHY HAMMOND
QUESTION: Can you estimate the value of the old tin-covered traveling trunk I have? It measures 18 inches high, is 16 inches wide and 28 inches long. It is completely covered with tin which has a small brick or block-like design covering its surface. This is held in place by two-inch-wide wooden strips. Any information you can tell me will be appreciated. T.G.

ANSWER: American trunks were first constructed for general usage during the 1700s by cabinet workers and saddlers. Because of necessity, they were made small for traveling which might be on stagecoach since the limitation for weight for free transportation was only 14 pounds — or on horseback, canoe, railroad or sailing vessel. These small trunks were constructed of wood and were usually covered with leather, canvas, heavy paper, carpet, horsehair and, later, metal. Some were ornamented with brass nails to hold the various coverings in place. The later trunks were larger and had trays. Oftentimes their interiors were lined with gay wallpaper, homespun or newspapers.

Up until around the mid-1800s, a trunk was made from start to finish by one craftsman. But in 1869 a Philadelphian began building trunks on an assembly line basis — marking the beginning of the luggage industry. Today, examples like your trunk are being offered in shops from $65 up, depending upon condition.

QUESTION: Your recent response covering Dresden porcelain prompted me to write. There is a mark that appears on a piece of (Turn to Page 8, Col. 1)

Shelby Lyman on chess

He wasn't distracted a bit

A well-known and voluptuous actress, who frequently played at a famous chess club, showed up one day heavily scented and in exceptionally provocative dress. When a friend of hers inquired as to the reason, she explained in a humorous manner that she was scheduled to play her first game in her first club tournament and "wanted to win."

Several days later the two met again. This time our "femme fatale" was unusually subdued.

Her special efforts had been in vain. Her opponent, an extremely near-sighted 11-year-old, had beaten her in 15 moves. Throughout the game, his gaze had not wavered from the chessboard.

Championship Aspirations Thwarted

Ewfim Geller is the 51-year-old Soviet grandmaster who served as Boris Spassky's second during the latter's world championship match with Bobby Fischer. Though long regarded as one of the most talented players in the world, Geller has never qualified to play a world title match.

He tried most recently in the Biel Interzonal Tournament, where no doubt he had high hopes after a year of notable tournament successes.

Personalized

An estimated $8 million has been spent for personalized license plates to aid the California environmental program.

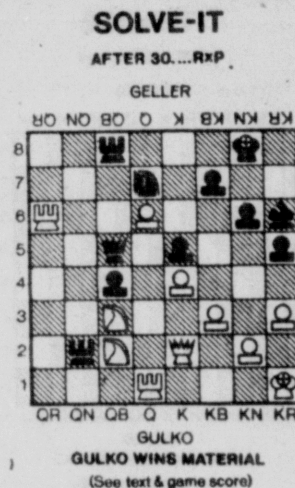

But in the game below, Boris Gulko, one of the brightest of the young Soviet stars, dealt him a sharp rebuff.

In the diagrammed position (SOLVE-IT) Gulko played 31.R-Q5! and Geller's queen was trapped.

Though 31... RxN freed the queen, Geller's material loss was serious. He resigned 10 moves later.

PACIFIC DESIGN CENTER

Architectural tribute to abstract in glass

Story by Joseph H. Firman
PB staff writer

Visitors to Southern California, bored by Disneyland-cum-freeway architecture, must gaze with wonder at the new blue-glass building at Melrose Avenue and San Vicente Boulevard in West Los Angeles, an abstract, geometric structure six stories high and as long as two football fields.

This is the Pacific Design Center, a huge trade mart devoted exclusively to interior design, decoration and home furnishings industries. It contains showrooms for furniture, lighting, fabrics, floor and wall coverings and gifts and accessories. The ground level Grand Mall features a retail shopping area, several art galleries, a restaurant and a bank (still under construction).

Visible for miles over the tops of the stores and homes in the area, the vast building looks as if some giant's child had been playing with variously shaped gleaming blue blocks. PDC has been likened by one critic to "a stranded whale," by another to a ship. From the back, where a long, unbroken overhang juts severely outward, the building "has the visual strength and purposefulness of a Great Lakes ore dock," said an architectural writer.

The dark blue behemoth is the work of Cesar Pelli, 48-year-old Argentine-born architect who is the partner in charge of design for the prestigious Los Angeles firm, Victor Gruen Associates.

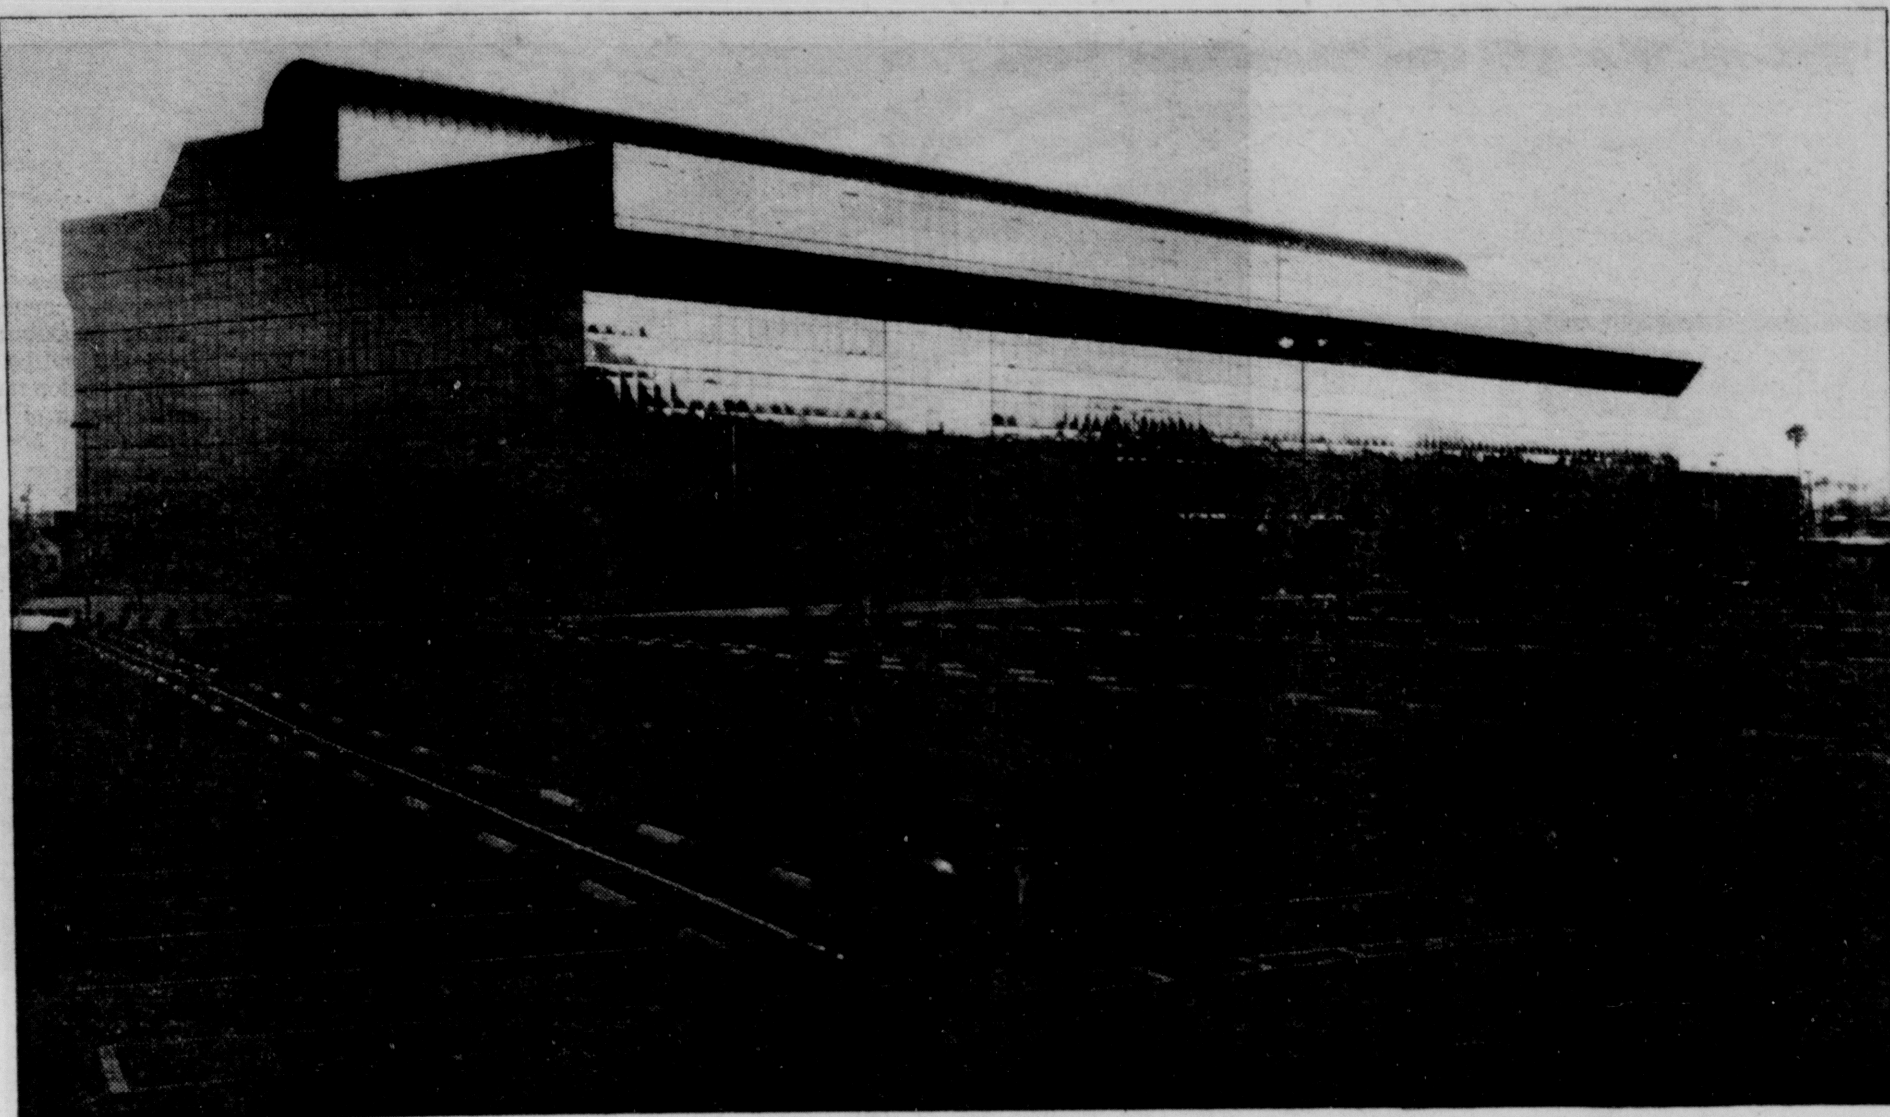

Basically PDC is a gargantuan rectangle, its ends sheer walls of rich, glittering blue. The severity of design is relieved by a transparent cylinder containing escalators at the front end and by a barrel vault at the top running the entire length of the building. Diagonal panels of reflecting material are used below the overhangs; a sloping roof element covers the buildings complex electrical and air-conditioning equipment.

The exterior of PDC consists of insulated blue opaque glass set in structural gaskets and supported by an aluminum framing system. The glass covers 200,000 square feet. Warm brown tones make up the major color theme of the building, with solar bronze plexiglass used in the skylights and the north and south escalator wells.

This view, looking down the design center's escalator well, illustrates the imaginative patterns that make the center.

Rear view of the center illustrates the severe geometric design. The building is as long as two football fields.

Dark red ceramic tile covers the ground floor; the other floors are carpeted in reddish brown.

Besides the shops, bank and restaurant, the ground floor also includes an auditorium seating 300, suitable for movies or theatrical presentations, and a large banquet hall.

Visitors who may feel uneasy about touring the giant glass house will be reassured to know that its structural elements are designed to resist earthquakes measuring up to 8.2 on the Richter Scale — a violent quake — and the frame is fireproofed with a sophisticated system of fire and smoke detectors and sprinklers.

In addition to two passenger elevators and two freight elevators, PDC has two sets of escalators. The south bank, in its transparent bronze enclosure, provides a dramatic view of the Los Angeles panorama.

An outstanding feature of the PDC is the two-story Grand Court and Galleria extending the full length of the building topped by a barrel vault or skylight. Tiled stairways at each end of the Grand Court lead to the Galleria mezzanine. A center span bridge links both sides of the mezzanine, providing access to all the showrooms.

Among the tenants of PDC are the American Society of Interior Designers, art galleries, and dealers in desks, chairs, cabinets, chests, ceramics, fabrics, floor coverings, graphics, garden accessories, library equipment, mirrors, tables, urns, wall hangings and other items.

Pacific Design Center is open to the public without charge, though many of the offices and showrooms are open only to dealers. Parking for 1,150 cars is provided at the rear of the building.

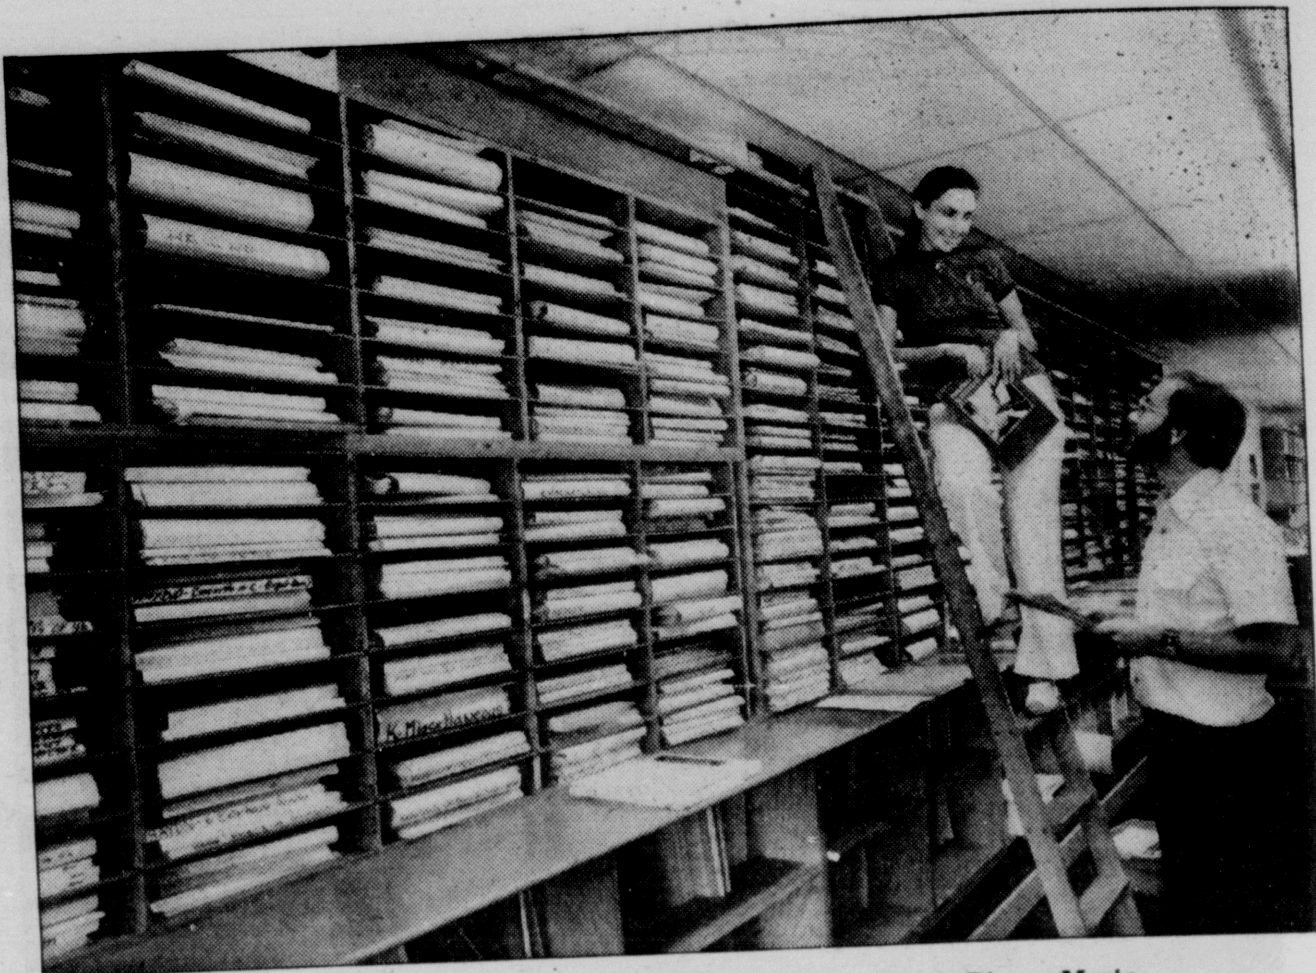

ON THE COVER

One of the most spectacular new buildings in Los Angeles is the Pacific Design Center at Melrose Avenue and San Vicente Boulevard. It is a huge mart devoted to interior design, decoration and the home furnishings industries. At top left is the Grand Court and Galleria, topped by a vault of solar bronze plexiglass. At top right is the front entrance. The building is open to the public.

Handsome columns and ceramic tile mark the entrance to the Grand Mall.

Pomona's Piano City

Victoria Holland and Larry Oliver, staff members at Ralph Pierce Music, check over a few of the thousands of piano scores.

Piano City, Pomona, is Ralph Pierce Music at 822 N. Garey Ave., a large, well-lighted store devoted to pianos and piano music. It boasts the greatest selection of classical keyboard music on the West Coast.

The firm is well-equipped to deal with pianos, piano teachers and people interested in the instrument. It is owned and operated by genial Ralph Pierce, former concert pianist and college music instructor. All members of the five-member staff are musicians.

Pierce made his concert debut in 1941 and since then has made many concert tours of the United States and Europe, including five recitals at New York's prestigious Town Hall. He still gives an occasional recital.

Pierce taught at Pomona and Scripps colleges for 18 years and gave private lessons in his Ontario studio for 30 years. He still gives a few lessons.

Pierce, vice president of the California Music Teachers Association, says:

"We're into musical education. We're running a piano teachers service."

Ralph Pierce Music offers piano lessons for children and adults and each month presents a free workshop for music teachers, with presentations and performances by many prominent musicians. Some 80 to 90 music teachers from all over Southern California attend the workshops.

The spacious showroom of Ralph Pierce Music is studded with 30 to 40 gleaming grand pianos, studio uprights and consoles, and the walls are lined with bins and shelves of sheet music.

The firm also rents pianos to families who want their children to take up the instrument, and the company sends out pianos to auditoriums and concert halls for a visiting artist or orchestra. Pierce has sent his instruments to Garrison Theater and Bridges Hall in Claremont, to Spring Auditorium, Ontario, Upland High School and other places.

Last May he had seven pianos on the Queen Mary in Long Beach for the annual convention of the MTAC. (Pierce says that Rubinstein, Horowitz and a handful of other top pianists take their own pianos with them on tour.)

As an adjunct to the new piano business, Ralph Pierce Music buys and rebuilds unusual old pianos in a small shop at the back of the store.

"Rebuilding old pianos has become quite a business in the past 20 years," Pierce says. "We rebuild them completely, and when we're through we have a better piano than those being built today."

Because of the extensive library of keyboard music, the company gets calls and correspondence from all over the United States. It has customers in Alaska, Florida, New Jersey and many other states.

Ralph Pierce Music started in Claremont in 1960, then, in quest of more space, moved to 435 E. Holt Ave., Pomona, in 1965. The company moved into its present quarters two years ago.

"I enjoy this business very much," Pierce says. "I get a lot of satisfaction from it. It is rewarding to meet and correspond with other musicians — some of the most prominent pianists in America turn to us for music."

Among the many scores on sale are works by Loris Tjeknavorian, guest conductor of the London Symphony Orchestra — and Pierce's son-in-law.

Danny Daniel and Natalie Higgins give piano instruction at the store.

Ralph Pierce, owner of Ralph Pierce Music, looks over some of the pianos on sale in his store at 822 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

HAFNIA 76, the international philatelic exhibition held in Copenhagen, Denmark, this summer is being honored by the U.S. Postal Service with the issuance of a Souvenir Card. The exhibit marks the 125th anniversary of Denmark's first postage stamp, which is featured on the new-card. Also appearing on the card is the one-cent Benjamin Franklin stamp of 1851.

The Souvenir Cards are now on sale in many post offices throughout the country and can be purchased by mail order from the Philatelic Sales Division in Washington, D.C. Cards are available in both cancelled and uncanceled form.

To meet the first class postage requirement and to complement the reproduction of the old Franklin stamp, the recently-issued 13-cent Ben Franklin adhesive will be affixed to the cancelled cards. It will be cancelled with the circular U.S. cancellation used at HAFNIA 76. A likeness of Franklin is in the center of the cancellation.

The uncanceled cards are $1.25 each and the cancelled variety of $1.38 each. Remember, there is a 50-cent handling charge for all mail orders. Send your requests to: HAFNIA Card, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, D.C. 20265.

Many nations participated in the recently held Olympic Games in Montreal and many issued postage stamps to honor their participation. Due to political conflicts, however, some of the countries pulled out of the games at the last moment, but could not stop the issuance or distribution of their special stamps. One such situation was the East African countries of Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda. The stamps featured athletes who were expected to participate and were prominently mentioned as medal winners. Kenya's stamp showed boxer Steve Muchoki. Tanzania's stamp depicted runner Filbert Bayi and Uganda's hurdler Akii Bua.

To promote the educational value of the hobby of stamp collecting, the Philatelic Foundation in New York is now making available to all schools a color slide and tape program called "The Romance of Stamp Collecting." The one-hour showing will be loaned without charge to bona fide school groups.

Produced by the noted philatelist Ernest A. Kehr, the program has been devised for either a one-hour presentation or three 20-minute programs. Educators may write to The Philatelic Foundation, 99 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10016 for an application to make a reservation for dates requested.

Dresden we have had for a good many years. What do the letters "MV" stand for? Mrs. I.W.

ANSWER: The mark indicates that your piece of porcelain was produced by Miller & Company located at Volkstedt-Rudolstadt, Thuringia, Germany. Production began in 1907.

QUESTION: We were recently given an unusual oak captain's chair and are just curious to know what such a chair might be worth. The chair was originally purchased during the early 20s for a city office. It looks exactly like any other captain or "fire house-like" chair or that period, only this one has springs under the seat and rocks, but will not swivel like some desk chairs we have seen.

It has been nicely refinished in recent years and is in excellent condition. J.H.

ANSWER: Chairs like you describe are usually priced from $95-$145 as they are scarce and in demand.

Where can we find a home with a scenic view ... do you know an inexpensive retirement village ... what is a good climate for older people? These are just some of the questions that are asked by people planning to retire.

More important, perhaps, but frequently overlooked by retirement folk, is the necessity of health and home maintenance services. It should be high on their list of needs, but those who find themselves in good health and are accustomed to things running smoothly in their city or suburban homes, may not give a thought to services they have always taken for granted.

Even city folk and people living in well populated suburban towns find services becoming scarce. The hospital could be 15 miles from a thriving suburban town, but even so transportation may be available. It is not always

Retirement

so accessible in less populated areas.

Retiring to an isolated area because "housing is a bargain" may have many drawbacks, caution people who have had the experience. Taxes may be low, the atmosphere tranquil, but the lack of services may be a missing link for older folk.

Here are some suggestions from retired people that may prove helpful to others who are seeking retirement housing:

—The dreamy little house in a small town may have everything going for it but convenience of health facilities. Before moving to it, find out where the doctor, dentist and hospital are located. Where can prescriptions be filled? What about eye examinations and new glasses? Find out how far you must travel for medical help in the event of an accident.

—Transportation is becoming more costly and being curtailed even in thriving communities. Is a car essential to your life in the town you are considering? Many persons do not wish to drive. Some can no longer drive for health reasons. Others want to curtail driving in the interest of economy. Is local transportation available? How often? Is it accessible to your home? You don't want to hire a car each time you must go to a railroad station or keep a doctor's appointment.

—Are there appliance servicemen within range of the prospective home? Washing machine, dishwasher and television are real pleasures for aging people but if you can't get them fixed promptly or must pay someone to travel long distances to repair them, they may become real luxuries. In addition to a long wait for a repairman, you may need to pay travel time. One couple found repair costs prohibitive in their new home.

—Many people want to satisfy a long time dream when retirement comes around, by finding a remote spot where they can "get away from it all" to fish and walk. But they forget people and machines can break down. Even those in the best of health may find rustic living a bit more than they bargained for, cautions one 60-ish, young-in-heart couple.

They chose a remote spot in a mountainous area of the Northeast for roughing it. They would fish by day and she would knit and do needlepoint at night as they watched television by the fire. They gave up the idea after four months when their television — their "only link with the outside world" — broke down and they had to take it 30 miles to be repaired.

By that time "even our shoes were getting thin, the radio battery spares were corroding, we had a lot of clothes that needed to be dry cleaned and we were fed up taking garbage to a dump," said the man who had always looked forward to living in a fishing camp.

Such a place could be dreamy, they emphasize, "if you could afford to maintain two places, and it was a spare."

Even after this experience, this couple was disappointed again. They tried their luck at a retirement village, only to find that life in an area filled with old people is not for them.

—Many people leave communities where they have been content and happy because they can't cope with taxes and maintenance of a big house. One couple solved that problem by buying a smaller house in the same community. They have the same services available to them, and they are able to travel far and wide with the profits they made on the bigger house.

One piece of information that all retirement folk emphasize was put by one man, who said, "old bones seem to need warm weather. There comes a time when it is a little late to pioneer."

LOU REED

Poet of punk turns to pop

By STAN MIESES

There was a time when Lou Reed sang hymns to heroin. There was a time when he sang about suicide, speed, homosexuality, sado-masochism and love — sometimes in the same song. There was a time when Lou Reed cut his hair short with an Iron Cross pattern shaved precisely on one side, painted his nails black and wore dark glasses indoors.

Lately, Lou Reed looks like a human being, a little spookier because of the hollows and echoes in his face, but not crazy. And he's talking Top 40. "I love it," he says. "I love pop music and I think only the best are there consistently."

"I'd like to be there — on levels I find interesting."

Reed has only one Top 20 hit, "Walk on the Wild Side," from his three-year-old "Transformer" album. He's just made a label switch, from RCA to Arista, where single hits are the by-word. "I haven't sat around trying to be top ten," he told us. "But I don't want to be there again by accident."

So he's cleaned up his act, off the record, that is, and he's busy recording his first record with the new company for release in the early fall, chock full of snappier numbers with Reed's characteristic lyrics winding strangeness around a good beat. Lou has always been a fine and true rock and roller, and all his albums, from the very first Velvet Underground lp to "Coney Island Baby," have bright moments and sometimes are brilliant throughout.

"I have a long-term plan," says Lou, who's been notorious for more than ten years in rock, a long time in an industry based on revolutions per minute. "I don't want to just bounce onto the top ten and dribble away. I want to own the Top 100 forever." He says it seriously.

"I liken the three minute song to a sonnet." The poet of the punks looked at us with a face that's the definition of deadpan.

One of the most surprising and joyful events this summer has been the release of Duke Ellington's Jazz Violin Sessions, recorded in 1963 with jazz violin masters Stephane Grapelli and Ray Nancy. This is not "old" jazz recorded by "old" men. In fact, the high energy of these musicians equals anybody's, unplugged, and their experience as soloists allows them to stretch out with authority. It's a great album . . . Rumors of the Rolling Stones' fall tour are correct, but no dates have been announced. Several stateside record execs are conferring with the Stones in London, and are hoping to coincide the concert dates with a release of a new single record . . .

Patti Smith, who met with hot and cold audiences here, is the biggest hit in Europe where punk-rock is flipping 'em out . . . Bruce Springsteen has been lying low for awhile, but not laying out. Last week, he performed six unannounced concerts in a local movie theater in Red Bank, N.J., and just by word-of-mouth in the South Jersey area, they were immediate sell-outs.

Spanish ballet set for UCLA

The National Festival Ballet of Spain will present a program of flamenco, ballet and Spanish dance in UCLA's Pauley Pavilion at 3 p.m. Oct. 3.

The company of 45 young performers will be giving more than 100 performances in its debut tour of the United States, Canada, South America, Central America, and the Caribbean.

Featured are some of Spain's most famous performers, including Maria del Sol, Mario de La Vega, Aurora Pons, Curra Jimenez, Juan Manuel and Angel Arocha.

The National Festival was formed two years ago when the best elements of Spain's Antonio Ballet, Zarzuela Ballet, and Festival Ballet were combined into a super ballet.

Its repertory is varied and colorful, including pieces such as "Bolero" and "Zarabanda"; classical selections such as "Danza Escuela Espanola"; a stunning flamenco section, and ensemble numbers such as "Boda de Luis Alonso" and "Jota de la Dolores."

One of Spain's leading choreographers, Alberto Lorca, has participated in the formation of the company, as have costume designers Jose Graverio, J. Granero, and Juanjo Linares.

Tickets for the performance may be obtained at the UCLA central ticket office, 650 Westwood Plaza, and all Mutual and Liberty agencies.
